ROLL OF HONOUR.

SERGEANT-MAJOR J. C. DOORLY.

Sergeant-Major James C Doorly, Australian Expeditionary Force, has died of fever at Damascus, while on active service. A son of the late Mr James Doorly, Roscommon, he was formerly on the staff of the National Bank at Limerick, but was farming in Queensland when the war broke out, and went with the Imperial Light Infantry to Gallipoli, being afterwards attached to the Camel Corps of the Australian Expeditionary Force. He was a brother of Mr C Doorly, the Pharmacy, Donegal.

DEATH OF MR JAMES RONAN.

We regret to record the death of Mr James Ronan, son of Mr and Mrs Ronan, Parnell-street, which took place in London on Saturday from influenza. Deceased, who was in his 25th year and a Civil Servant, was some seven years in the Metropolis, filling a position in the Local Government Board at Whitehall. He was a very bright and promising young man of retiring and studious habits, and enjoying the high esteem of his colleagues, who learned of his demise with sincere regret. The sympathy of very many friends in Limerick is extended to his bereaved parents and relatives. The remains were conveyed to Limerick for interment, the funeral, which was large and representative, taking place to Mount St Lawrence Cemetery last evening on the arrival of the 4.50 p.m. train.

The clergy present were—Father Dwyer, Adm.
St Michael's; Father Carroll, C.C., Father Thornhill, C.C., Father Hannon, C.C., St Michael's.

The chief mourners were—Mr Martin Ronan, father; Messrs John and Thomas, brothers of the deceased; Misses Mary and Agnes, sisters, and John Ronan, cousin.

DUTCH TRAWLERS FOR THE IRISH SEA.

A Ymuiden telegram, dated November 22nd, says:—The Dutch Government has given permission for twenty Ymuiden steam trawlers to fish in the Irish Sea, with a view to increasing the British fish supply. It is intended to extend the number of vessels to thirty.

SHANNON CINEMA.

"The Moon Child," one of the best serials ever produced, will be commenced on Monday and Tuesday next. The new unique theme of the story.
Marie Walcamp's wonderful control of wild animals, and the skill with which her great powers are blended into a charming tale of love, adventure, and intrigue, make this serial a worldwide favourite.

AMERICAN THANKSGIVING DAY.

To-day being appointed by the U.S.A. Government as Thanksgiving Day on the conclusion of the war, the occasion was marked in Limerick by the display of Allied flags, among which the Stars and Stripes had place of honour, from several public and private establishments in the city.

Nigel Baring, M.F.H., was sold to Mr Wallace for £3 5s. It was re-sold to Mr Moss for £2 15s, and subsequently to Mr M D Shaw for £2 10s.

The Messrs Ebrill then took up the sale, and after keen competition, displayed, all round, the stock, poultry, produce, machinery, dogs, and miscellaneous articles were all cleared at top prices.

WAR GRAVES AND CEMETERIES.

In a leader on "The Kingdom of our Dead," the "Daily Telegraph" deals with the war graves and cemeteries abroad, and says:—The character of the charge which is laid upon us is revealed by the mere fact that tens of thousands of our men sleep in peace in France, Belgium, and Italy; in Bulgaria, Turkey, Gallipoli, and Palestine; in Egypt, Mesopotamia, East and West Africa; in Malta, Gibraltar, and Cyprus. It must be our duty, as well as our high privilege, to see that no desecrating hand ever disturbs the quiet slumber of these heroes. These thousands of graves overseas form no ordinary cemeteries. They are places where seed has been sown in the full assurance of a glorious resurrection, and sown by men who, of their own free will, offered their all for the fruits of victory which we are grasping in our hands today. They constitute a League of Nations. They, dead, yet speaking, are eloquent witnesses to the world of the conscience of the British race. They were no hucksters, but went forward to death without hope of material reward fearlessly, with open eyes which, it may be, saw clearer than some who still survive, the great purpose which lay behind the fog of war.

AGRICULTURAL LABOURERS' WAGES

To-day a Committee of the Agricultural Wages Board for Ireland held a sitting in the Council Chamber, Limerick, placed at their disposal through the kindness of the Mayor, for the purpose of giving persons interested an opportunity of expressing their views on the Board's proposal for fixation of minimum wages for agricultural labourers for the ensuing year.

Mr Charles H. O'Connor, Chairman of the Agricultural Wages Board, presided, and the other members of the Board present were:—Lady Russell, Mr Timothy Raleigh (Hon. Treasurer, Irish Land and Labour Association), and Mr James Murphy (President, Irish Trade and Labour Union). Mr R. J. Purcell acted as Secretary to the Committee.

The following deputations appeared before the Committee:—Limerick Farmers' Union, represented by Lieut. Commander R Cooper, Messrs D O'Brien, J Bohan, J McCaba, and M Walshe (Organiser); Irish Land and Labour Association, represented by Messrs Michael Ryan, Edmond Power, J O'Dwyer, Michael Egan, and James Cortley; Golden Workers' Protective and Benefit Society, represented by Mr Thomas Murphy.

DEATH OF MRS. J. M. KIDD.

Many old friends in the city will regret to hear of the demise of Mrs Isabella Kidd, widow of Mr James Morgan Kidd, formerly of Limerick, which took place yesterday at her residence, Rathgar, Dublin, in the 77th year of her age. The deceased lady was of a very kindly disposition, and highly respected and esteemed. Sincere sympathy is expressed with her family in their bereavement.
The funeral takes place from the Presbyterian Church, Limerick, at 10 o'clock on Friday morning.

IRISH HOUSING QUESTION.

tion at their last ordinary meeting requesting the Local Government Board for Ireland to have extended to Ireland a housing scheme similar to the needs of the community. The Council desires to
