JUSTICE TERMS.

The Council has decided on a new armistice, the terms of which have not yet been disclosed, but it is most strikingly characteristic of the previous armistice with Germany, it will be a period of time that will be up to the time that the terms are signed. This is in the desires of the countries, for it will be a period of uncertainty, which will be the armistice for calculated to arouse, and deny the opportunity of escaping the consequences of defeat. The Press Association has agreed with all pourparlers and substitutes for an armistice, having formed a permanent real intention, obliged to demand the more stringent terms of the armistice, it is stated, were they, and they are in the Wilson's principle possible for Germany again, and also the terms are drastic, and the protection of France. The terms are drastic, more than the situation they are accepted, they be taken to enforce Wilson has uttered warning in this regard to have a de-valuation of hostilities.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS.

Draft of Scheme

The Draft of the League of Nations shows that only the Allied nations are to be represented at present. Neutrals and enemy nations may be admitted later. When a conflict arises between the States it will be obligatory to submit it to the arbitration of the League of Nations. If one of the two parties should not accept the decision, hostilities would ensue. The coercive measures may be of an economic, financial, or even military character. There will not be an international army, but the League will be able to call upon the troops of the constituent nations, and will then decide upon the relative strength of each army. All members of the League will give mutual guarantees to keep within their frontiers as they are fixed by the Peace Conference.

At a plenary sitting of the Peace Conference Mr Wilson had the honour of introducing the draft. He declared that the significance of the result has that deepest of all meanings—a union of wills in a common purpose—a union of wills which cannot be resisted, and which he said no nation will run the risk of attempting to resist.

FUNERAL OF MR B. BARRINGTON, SOLR.

The interment of the remains of the late Mr Benjamin Barrington, Solicitor, took place to-day at St. Munchin's. At twelve o'clock the funeral left the residence of the deceased, 91 George street, and although the weather was inclement, the cortege was large and representative. The various commercial interests in the city were represented, as well, of course, as the members of the legal profession. On reaching the cemetery the remains were taken into the church where the service was conducted by the Rev H Deale, Methodist Church, and the Rev Chancellor Waller. The lesson was read by Chancellor Waller, and the psalm by the Rev Mr Deale. A short address was delivered by Mr Deale, who said he did not intend to make any lengthy allusion to the late Mr Barrington, as he had arranged for a memorial service, at which something would be said worthy of the man they were about to lay to rest. The impression left on his mind of their dear friend was summed up in a few words—he was a Christian gentleman. He had lived all his life in Limerick, and those of them who knew him longer than he did, knew his worth. He (Mr Deale) had the pleasure and privilege of being associated with him in Church work in the city, and he could say of him that he led an ideal life, and died in peace with God.

The hymn "Rock of Ages," was then sung, and the remains were taken out to the strains of the "Dead March in Saul," played by Mr Muspratt on the organ.

The Rev Mr Deale and Chancellor Waller read the committal sentences.
