

...demonstrator... to the protests he had received from the Messrs M Glynn and Sons and G Doherty and Son, coal merchants, Kilrush, as to the unfairness of the prices fixed by the Council, and which if persisted in would leave them at a loss.

After some discussion it was decided to adjourn the matter until a representative of the Controller came to Kilrush to investigate the matter.

LABOUR AND SINN FEIN.

In the Trades' Hall, Capel street, on Sunday night Mr Thomas Nagle delivered a lecture, under the auspices of the Irish Socialist Labour Union on "Sinn Fein and Labour," in the course of which he said that the Sinn Fein movement was similar to previous movements of a so-called patriotic kind in that it was fully supported by capitalists who wanted to rob labour. It was but drawing another ed-herring across the track. Without gaining an economic reform, the gaining of the promised independence for Ireland would be utterly useless. They talked of bringing American millionaires to this country to carry on manufacture, but he would send these men back to America, where their money could be used by the people they robbed. Sinn Fein was not run in the interests of labour, but was harmful to it, as the Home Rule movement had been in the past. It was not for what the Sinn Feiners put forward that Labour should work, but for a real economic reform.

A discussion followed.
