NEW TILLAGE ORDER.

The new Irish Tillage Order of the Department of Agriculture, published yesterday, provides, with certain exceptions, that minimum tillage portion of every holding the current year shall be equivalent in extent to 15 per cent of the area thereof. Compared with previous Orders, which required 15 per cent of the entire holding to be tilled where half had not been cultivated in 1916, this is a new departure, and, doubtless, a welcome one from the farmer's point of view. The Order issued in 1918 required that in addition to the then existing stipulation as to 15 per cent, the poorer holdings of 200 arable acres and upwards should till 5 per cent, or a total of the amount cultivated in 1916 of 20 per cent. This additional tillage was, of course, necessitated by the food scarcity, or at least was anticipated to take place as the result of a continuance of the war. Consequently a great tillage week campaign was carried on in the early Spring months, and a special appeal of the Department was, in previous years, generously responded to by the agricultural community. And so in the emergency of an unprecedented character, the matter was safely and satisfactorily tided over. The cessation of hostilities, of course, much improved the situation, but the food question is still with us the world over. We know the condition of things at the moment in enemy countries, where the need for foodstuffs is at once so urgent and pressing, and which nations the Allies are doing all that is possible to alleviate. Indeed, having regard to the conditions now prevailing on the Continent of Europe it seems likely that there will be a considerable shortage of foodstuffs next year, not only in Germany and Austria but also to a greater or lesser degree in Russia, France, and Italy, as well as in grain-producing countries in the Near East. We have, therefore, in these islands, to do what we can, with adequate Government support and encouragement, to produce all the foodstuffs possible both for people and live stock. The Irish Department have, therefore, as stated, fixed a minimum of 15 per cent for tillage in Ireland, which, evidently, is regarded as the minimum necessary to be brought under the plough. There are, needless to say, exemptions to the Order. These include every possible holding of less than ten statute acres in extent; any holding or portion thereof which is required during the season of 1919 for the production of milk for human consumption; for the carrying on of an essential industry other than agriculture, or as accommodation in connection with the disposal of stock at auctions, fairs, and markets, or for the purposes of slaughter of cattle. There is also provision for land reserved for the maintenance of a stud of high-class thoroughbred horses, or for racing or golfing purposes; agricultural and in-

OFFICIAL PROCLAMATION

Funeral of Mr. Byrne.

Activities in police and military circles were continued in the city and district yesterday in connection with the affray at Limerick Workhouse on Sunday afternoon when Constable Martin O'Brien was shot dead, and Mr Robert J Byrne, a prisoner patient, subsequently succumbed to wounds. Up to the present, however, no new developments are reported. Houses in Clare and Limerick were searched by parties of military and police and several persons interrogated, but with what result is not known.

Limerick and Military Area.

Mr Davies, Assistant Inspector-General of the Royal Irish Constabulary, with Captain R J Maunsell, Chief Intelligence Officer, Southern District, and other military officers visited the city on Tuesday evening in view of the proclamation to be issued making Limerick a military area. It is believed they were engaged in mapping the proposed area under the Order.

In view of the probable drafting into the city of additional troops, the Competent Military Authority has notified the Secretary of the Shannon Rowing Club that the Club premises would be required for military purposes. The military have also re-taken possession of 78 George-street, which was used for the purposes of recruiting in the district previous to the conclusion of the war. Certain premises in the suburbs are also spoken of as likely to be acquired.

Official Warning

The following official communique was yesterday issued for publication by the Irish Press Censor regarding the funeral of Mr R J Byrne at Limerick to-day:—"The Government have no wish to interfere with the solemnity and dignity of any funeral ceremonial, but they cannot tolerate any defiance of the law. Anything in the shape of a military parade or assembly in military formation will at once be stopped. The Government will accept no responsibility for any consequences that may arise from disobedience of this order."

THE LATE MR R J BYRNE.

On Tuesday night the remains of Mr Robert J Byrne were removed from the house of Mr John Ryan, farmer, Knockalishen, Meelick, where he succumbed to his wounds on Sunday evening. The funeral started a little after 8 o'clock, and all along the route to St John's Cathedral the cortege, which was of extensive proportions, was witnessed by large numbers of people. The coffin, which was draped with the Republican colours, was borne the entire distance of three miles on the shoulders of friends of the deceased. It is computed that the procession in the city contained something like eight thousand people who included several Companies of Irish Volunteers few of whom were, however, in uniform. On arriving at the Cathedral the Rev Fr Connolly, Adm., received the remains where they rested until to-day. No untoward incident occurred during the progress of the procession through the district or city. There were no police in the streets at the time, they evidently having been withdrawn.

All day long numbers of people visited the Cathedral, and this morning at 10 o'clock High Mass was celebrated for the dead in presence of a large congregation.

The flag at the Town Hall was at half-mast to-day as a mark of respect to the deceased, and of sympathy with his relatives.

and relatives, our deepest sympathy on the death of his noble-hearted brother." The resolution was passed in silence.

The Injured Policemen.

Constable J H Spillans, Askeaton, who was seriously injured by a bullet in the region of the spine, has been removed from the Limerick Workhouse for treatment in Dublin.

On Tuesday evening Sergeant J T Golding, Ballyneety; Constable J Tierney, Kiltcealy, and Constable J Fitzpatrick, Clarina, who were not so seriously injured in the affray, were taken from the institution, and Prison Warden O'Mahony left on Sunday evening.

Funeral of Constable O'Brien.

The funeral of Constable Martin O'Brien took place from the Birr Catholic church yesterday. The remains had been removed from Limerick on Monday evening. Requiem Mass was celebrated in the morning. The clergy present were—Rev Canon Ryan, P.P., V.F.; Rev E J Seanlan, C.C. Birr; Rev F Martyn, C.C. Birr; Rev J Barry, Workhouse Chaplain, Birr.

The funeral was largely attended. A contingent of police, under the command of Mr Knox, D.I. Birr, marched in the cortege, which also included about fifty cars. The chief mourners included Mrs O'Brien (wife) and brothers of the deceased Constable.

Constable O'Brien belonged to a North Tipperary family, and was a brother of Mr M O'Brien, U.D.C. Birr. Some local Sinn Féiners were present at the funeral.

Constable Martin O'Brien was a brother of Mrs Dunne, wife of Constable W J Dunne, Chapelstreet, Lismore. She has the sympathy of the Lismore public in her sad and sudden bereavement. Both Mr and Mrs Dunne left Lismore for the funeral at Birr.

Further Compensation Claims

Claims for compensation have been made by the policemen who received injuries in the melee. Constable J H Spillans has applied for £2,000, and Sergeant J F Golding, Constables J Fitzpatrick and J Tierney, £500 each. With the £2,000 applied for by the widow of Constable M O'Brien these amounts bring the total claim up to £5,500.

REFERENCE AT LIMERICK BOARD OF GUARDIANS.

Master's Report.

At the meeting of the Limerick Board of Guardians yesterday, Mr J Keane (Chairman) presiding,

The Master (Mr E Dundon) submitted the following report:—"On Sunday, the 6th instant, at about 2.30 p.m., during visiting hours, Robert J Byrne, a patient from the County Prison, who was admitted here to hospital on the 12th ultimo, was forcibly taken away by a number of men unknown to me, they having overpowered the guard who were in charge of him. The guard consisted of four police constables, one sergeant of police, and a prison warden. I regret to report that as a result of the struggle that took place in No. 1 Men's Ward, where the prisoner was a patient, one of the police constables was shot dead. Another constable was wounded by a revolver shot, and the other three policemen were wounded about the head badly. The Workhouse Chaplain (Roman Catholic) was in immediate attendance, and Doctors Humphreys, McGrath, Mulcahy, and McDonnell attended to the wounded constables. On the recommendation of the medical officers I admitted the four wounded constables to the hospital, where they remained until the 8th instant, when they were taken away by the police authorities. The prison warden was not seriously wounded, and left on the evening of the 6th instant."

Mr P Bourke said it was his melancholy duty to propose a resolution arising out of the unfortunate incident that occurred in the institution since last meeting of the Board. As they were aware, two deaths had taken place, the circumstances in connection with which had cast a gloom over the entire city, and had brought sadness to the hearts of many of their fellow-citizens. They all deplored the loss of life that had occurred, and the death of one Irishman at the hands of another Irishman, no matter who he was or what he represented. He proposed the following resolution:—"We beg to tender to Mrs Byrne, mother of Mr Robert J Byrne, who lost his life in this institution, and to his respected family our deepest sympathy in their sad bereavement at the loss of their Irish son—their self-sacrificing patriot and unbending opponent of British misgovernment in his native land—and we pray God to comfort Mrs Byrne in her great trial and affliction." He said the resolution scarcely conveyed to Mrs

LIMERICK DISTRICT

The monthly meeting of the Management of the Limerick District held yesterday.

Mr M. P. O'Shaughnessy, J.P., presided.

Other members present—John F. M. Quinlan, J.P.; Wm R Gubbins, Co. Connell; John Coleman, L.O.D. McInerney, B.G.; R Frost, B.C.; A T Hurley, J.P.; Rev Canon O'Driscoll, M. Collins, C. Keogh.

B.M.S. REPORT.

Dr Irwin, Resident Medical Officer, read his monthly report. There was a decrease of sickness in the Asylum, mainly on the side, owing to influenza. Since last meeting 14 patients died, and there were 100 patients that day.

Mr Wm O'Shaughnessy, Clerk, reported on the last meeting.

INCREASE OF SALARY TO DR

The Chairman said he regretted that he had not drawn attention to a matter which was discussed at the second last meeting, where an increase of salary was proposed and carried of £50. That proposal was moved and carried (Chairman's) opinion it was also carried on two reasons. One was that an advertisement under which Dr Irwin was not entitled to look for an increase until after five years' service. The other was that in black and white, and it was very difficult to draw a Section 2 of Rule 30 also set out the Chairman's opinion, with the Lord Lieutenant, to grant, after an increase not exceeding £100. In the advertisement and this rule he suggested that the doctor the last day he met him out of the difficulty. He suggested that it would be to make it a bonus, and not a salary. He thought the doctor was not satisfied with the suggestion, but it was not done. The Committee had before them the report for payment, signed by the Chairman, but not by him (the Chairman) it was sanctioned.

Dr Irwin was understood to have said that an increase would come under good service, that was what the increase was for.

The Chairman—What good service was there? He would state where did good service pay the section of the rule. He may not have good service pay. He read the section of the rule. He read it did not want to have anything matter, however painful the duty it brought under the attention of the Board. Mr Gubbins thought the Chairman was doing his duty in mentioning the matter. The Chairman—That is what I want. Mr Coleman agreed that there was no making any apology, because it was the Chairman's duty to regulate the proceedings, and he was ignorant of the matter, but was not.

The Chairman said he told the Board of the illegality of the proceeding, and it was to be managed.

Dr Irwin said Mr O'Donnell's report that the increase was granted, and an advertisement to the contrary thereby rescinded. His increase after eight years' service, and other asylums the increase had been granted.

The Chairman said he had no objection to Dr Irwin getting an increase by way of a bonus.

Dr Irwin remarked that, save for the fact that a member of the staff got an increase, the Chairman said that did not increase to Dr Irwin legal. The doctor took an exactly opposite view to the Chairman's view. He merely wished to see the members and himself.

Dr Irwin said the members could not be satisfied because the increase had been sanctioned.

Mr Coleman said the resolution was not carried.

The Chairman—The very fact of the Lunacy Commission sanctioning the increase of salaries they are.

Mr Coleman said the Committee should be satisfied in the first instance.

The Chairman—But the Inspector should be satisfied with their duties, and they ought to be satisfied.

Mr O'Donnell said when he heard of the motion he was not aware of the matter mentioned by the Chairman.

After some discussion it was agreed that the words of the Chairman, the increase was not paid, as it is illegal, a minute to be made.

THE FUNERAL Immense Attendance. Military Measures.

The funeral of Mr Robert J Byrne took place this afternoon from St John's Cathedral, in which the remains lay on a catafalque in front of the high altar since their removal thither on Tuesday night. The authorities, anticipating, as the proclamation issued last night stated, a military parade or the like, took every precaution to enforce the prohibition of any such demonstration. Extra forces of military and police were on duty on the streets, or in reserve at the barracks; armoured cars were posted in selected sites, and two aeroplanes hovered over the Cathedral and its grounds, or along the line of route selected for the procession from St John's to Mt St Lawrence, where it was arranged the interment should take place. There was a strong display of military force, but fortunately quiet and order prevailed, and the funeral started not far behind the appointed time, three o'clock.

There was an immense throng of people in the streets, and on every side sympathy was heard expressed with the deceased, his mother, and relatives. From the city and county, from Clare and neighbouring counties, there were large contingents also present, and the Volunteers sent some hundreds of their members in compliment to the memory of the deceased. These formed a guard of honour in the Cathedral, lining both sides of the nave and choir up to the catafalque at the service, and on the removal of the remains for interment every detail in connection with the funeral was carried out in the most effective and kindest manner possible.

It was five minutes after three o'clock when the remains were taken out of the Cathedral. By this time the weather, which was threatening in the forenoon, had cleared up, and dense crowds of people congregated in the space in front of the sacred edifice. Preceding the coffin, which was covered with the Republican colours, walked twenty-five of the city clergy, both secular and regular. Then came the hearse, which was crowned with wreaths, and next the Volunteers and friends carrying more floral tributes. The coffin was taken the entire distance to Mount St Lawrence cemetery by the friends of the deceased, the arrangements in this respect being directed by the Rev Fr Kelly, C.S.S.R. The route of the funeral was through John-street, Broad-street, Charlotte's Quay, Rutland-street, Patrick-street, George-street, William-street, and Mulgrave-street, to the last resting place. As the cortege passed along business houses were closed and blinds drawn, while the immense crowds that lined the whole route respectfully saluted the remains as they passed by. At the various points where the military and police were posted, there was some apprehension of an untoward occurrence, but nothing took place. As the coffin passed at these places the military presented arms in respect for the dead. So large was the procession that it took an hour and ten minutes to pass a given point, and it is computed that at least fifteen thousand people must have taken part in it.

The Mayor, who was attended by his mace-bearers, was present, as well as members of the Corporation, while every class in the community was represented. It was a striking demonstration of respect to the memory of the deceased, and expressive of the sympathy felt for his mother and family in their bereavement.

The chief mourners were—Mrs A Byrne, mother; John H Byrne and Thomas Byrne, brothers; Mrs E Crowe, aunt; Thomas Bryan, and Dermot Crowe, Aiden and W Harley (Dublin), Alderman A Byrne, George and Laurence Byrne (Dublin), cousins; and other relatives.
The clergy present at the Mass were also at the funeral.

The celebrant was Rev Fr Connolly, Adm; deacon, Rev Fr Hennessy, O.S.A.; sub-deacon, Rev Fr Carroll, C.C., and master of ceremonies, Rev Fr McNamara, C.C.

The clergy in the choir were—Rev Fr Dwane, Adm; Rev Fr Hannan, C.C.; Rev Fr Carroll, C.C.; Rev Fr Tracey, C.C.; Rev Fr Hayes, C.C.; Rev Fr Rice, C.C.; Rev Fr Kelly, C.C.; Rev Fr Philip, O.F.M.; Rev Fr Ambruce, O.F.M., and Rev Fr Hunt, O.S.A.

Father Connolly officiated at the graveside.

Votes of Condolence.

At the meeting of the Corporation Committee last night, Alderman McNeice presiding, it was unanimously decided, on the motion of the Chairman, to adjourn the meeting as a mark of respect to the memory of the late Mr Byrne.

At a specially convened meeting of the Limerick Branch of the Irish Hemispherical Assistants' Association, the following vote of condolence was proposed by the President, Mr T Blak:—"That we, the members of the Limerick Branch of the I.C.A.A., beg to tender to our fellow-member, Mr T Byrne, stances in connection with which had cast a gloom over the entire city, and had brought sadness to the hearts of many of their fellow-citizens. They all deplored the loss of life that had occurred, and the death of one Irishman at the hands of another Irishman, no matter who he was or what he represented. He proposed the following resolution:—

"We beg to tender to Mrs Byrne, mother of Mr Robert J Byrne, who lost his life in this institution, and to his respected family our deepest sympathy in their sad bereavement at the loss of their Irish son—their self-sacrificing patriot and unbending opponent of British misgovernment in his native land—and we pray God to comfort Mrs Byrne in her great trial and affliction." He said the resolution scarcely conveyed to Mrs Byrne and family the regret of the Board on the death of her heroic and noble-hearted son. By his death Ireland had been deprived of the services of a true Irishman. He was constrained to contrast the treatment meted out to the relatives of the dead policeman and to Mrs Byrne and family arising out of the unfortunate affray. It was only natural, and nobody would take exception to the constable's wife looking for compensation, but when they placed that aspect of the matter side by side with the treatment shown Mrs Byrne, it was, to say the least, revolting. After Robert Byrne was shot, and while he was dying in a house on the loan mountain side, he was naturally anxious to have his mother by his side. With her sister and other relatives she repaired to the house, and was arrested. The principal Minister representing the British Government in this country, as well as the "Daily Mail," had directly accused the Sinn Fein organisation with complicity, wilful complicity, in the unfortunate murders that had taken place in the country. As a member of the Executive of Sinn Fein, and speaking with executive authority, he absolutely denied the accusation. The policy of Sinn Fein was guided by a Christian and noble spirit, and if it were otherwise they could not possibly have the Bishops and priests of the country with them, recognising that organization. Sinn Fein always fought in the open, and never tolerated the murder of Irishmen or Irishwomen. He characterised the statements of the "Daily Mail" as cowardly and stupid, and those of the Chief Secretary likewise. (Hear, hear.)

Mr J Leddan, in seconding the resolution, said that Mr Byrne lost his life in an attempt to regain his personal liberty.

Messrs P O'Reilly and J Bourke associated themselves with the resolution.

The Chairman, in declaring the resolution passed, sympathised with Mrs Byrne in her loss, and at the same time congratulated her on having reared such a truly patriotic son.

The Board then adjourned as a mark of respect to the memory of the deceased.

THREE POLICEMEN WOUNDED

In County Cork.

Castletownbere, Wednesday.

News reached Castletown this morning that three policemen were wounded in the Eyeries district on Tuesday night. It is stated the wounds were caused by pellets, and that no one of the three injured men is dangerously wounded. At the time of writing, the names of the injured men are not available, but it is rumoured that one is a sergeant.

Wednesday Evening.

The latest news available regarding the wounding of a sergeant and two policemen near Eyeries last night is that at 11 o'clock, while a patrol consisting of Sergeant O'Connell and Constables Cammus and Ronan, were returning to Eyeries, on the Castletown to Eyeries road, and when they were about a quarter of a mile from the latter village, they were fired on with shot guns, and all struck. It would appear that the shots were fired from some distance, and Dr Harrison, who was called out, was able to extract the pellets. An armoured car and a detachment of military visited Eyeries in the afternoon. As far as can be ascertained none of the wounds are dangerous.

After some discussion, it was proposed b McNeice that the application, including l to married attendants to have dinner at th

Mr Coleman moved an amendment to the
