

UNLAWFUL AFFAIR STOPPED NEAR LIMERICK.

MASTER'S TRAIN HELD UP

Large Sum Carried Off.

Unlawful and daring occurrence took place evening some short distance outside Killonan station. The Paymaster's train was being to the city to pay the men employed in engineering department of the Great Western Railway. For this purpose a large sum of money, estimated at between £2,000 and £3,000. The train was only a short distance from Killonan when it was held up in an ingenious manner, and one which showed that the outrage was cleverly planned. Three men appeared on the adjacent way, one of whom raised a red flag as the train was seen to approach. Thinking that the train was coming to a standstill, the driver stopped and brought the engine to a standstill. Immediately the men, who were acting in concert with others, probably about twenty in all, jumped on to the footplate, and one of them produced a revolver at the driver and fireman, and the others ransacked the train. All the money was taken, and the raiders, many of whom were masked, decamped with the booty. The train subsequently proceeded to Limerick, where the occurrence was reported, and the authorities immediately set in motion.

COUNTY CORK POLICE BARRACKS

Partially Blown Up

Constable Loses Right Arm

Police barracks at Durrus, County Cork, were partially blown up by raiders at midnight on Saturday. The attackers used bombs and rifles. The garrison, consisting of six constables, a sergeant, replied with rifles. Petrol was poured down the chimney, and this led to an explosion, in which the building was destroyed. Constable Sullivan and Constable Donovan were killed. The latter's right arm was practically cut off by an explosive and has been amputated. The sergeant's wound is not serious. Trees and other obstacles are now partly removed from the barracks. Telegraphic communication with Bantry, however, is not yet restored. The police and army are still scouring the country, but no arrests have yet been made.

WEST LIMERICK MYSTERY.

RESUMED INQUEST.

No Identification.—Jury's Verdict.

Our Newcastle West correspondent wires this afternoon.—The resumed inquest on the unknown man found shot near Moanroe was held to-day. There was no identification. The body was interred yesterday in the workhouse cemetery. Sergeant Cahill, questioned, said he saw no signs of a struggle. There were no signs of a motor car on the roads in the vicinity, and no footprints. Jeremiah Cussen, who found the body, said it was in a kneeling posture.

Dr Cremin, giving medical evidence, stated that the deceased had been shot through the head and chest, the shooting taking place in his opinion while the man was kneeling. Shots were fired at more than a range of three feet, as the head or clothing were not singed. A wound on the wrist would indicate that the murdered man may have been warding off a blow or a bullet.

The District Inspector mentioned that wires had been sent to all parts of Munster, and outside it, to endeavour to discover the identity of the dead man, but without avail. It had been rumoured that the police knew all about it, but that was not true. They would be only too anxious to get a clue as to who he was.

The jury found that death was due to shock and hemorrhage caused by bullet wounds, not self-inflicted.
