It was decided that meetings be held twice weekly for the purpose of dealing with cases of overcharging, and the Committee wish to again impress on the citizens the necessity of forwarding such complaints to the Secretary for investigation.

The Committee's attention has been called to the fact that despite their request in a previous report there are a number of shopkeepers not displaying price lists of goods on their premises, and the Committee respectfully suggest that householders should deal only with firms and shop-owners who display such lists.

The prices of milk, bacon, and bread were discussed.

The Committee decided that 1s 4d per gallon was a reasonable price for milk supplied in the city.

The Secretary reported that the price lists promised at the last meeting by the local butchers had not yet come to hand, and the members expressed themselves disappointed in the matter.
