

if he thought that the division was intended as a slight to the Provisional Government at present in this sense it with all the force he had that division certainly looked to Mr Michael Collins, Minister for the Interior when they were asked to submit proposals qualified to fill the office (No. 10) of the Dublin Corporation the matter and selected Mr T.D., who announced that he was in favour of the Provisional Government did not wish to comment as long as the Provisional Government were he (Mr Griffin) would give as possible, and until such time as he was not enamoured with the Provisional Government he did not believe he felt that when they were selected they should do it at the Provisional Government—the body at the present time in the country. (Hear, hear) from the Republican point of view the motion was not supported as the members were unprepared to support it. As far as he was concerned he intended to Mr Michael Collins. Mr O'Donovan said the reason that he supported the motion was that she was unnecessary. She would not pay the salary of the High Sheriff as of his attending the Judges. These things were no longer necessary. He considered that a special meeting should be called to discuss the question, but that was not necessary. He thought the same considerations applied to the appointment of a Mayor as well as the question is adjourned for a week.

COMMONERSHIP.
The question of the appointment of a Mayor was deferred until the next meeting of the Standing Committee.

CITY ADMINISTRATION.
In the absence of Mr Collins, the Standing Committee of Management, consisting of members, has set up to take over the administration of the city, and to supervise the proposed City Council.

Mr Griffin was appointed to represent the Provisional Government—The Mayor, Alderman, Councillors Cronin, Healy, Brien, and O'Flaherty, Mr. O'Connell and R. T. Cashin were appointed as outside representatives, the Provisional Government will continue to hold office until January.

BRITISH MILITARY OFFICER DEPRIVED OF HIS REVOLVER.

While proceeding through Upper Hartington street on Thursday night and when opposite the Leamy Schools a British military officer in mufti was held up by a gang of armed young fellows and relieved of his revolver. The incident was carried out in a method and fashion, and the thoroughfare being a quiet and unfrequented one, it did not attract any attention. Having taken the revolver the officer was allowed proceed to the New Barracks.

THE NEW SWING BRIDGE.

An advertisement appearing in our columns this evening announces that the contractors for the new swing bridge at Sarsfield street propose closing the roadway to all vehicular traffic on March 20th. Pedestrian traffic will, however, be provided for by means of a temporary footbridge.

CITY WATER SUPPLY.

The attention of householders is directed to an advertisement appearing in our columns that, owing to repairs, the water supply will be shut down from 10 p.m. to 7 a.m. on and from Tuesday next, 7th instant, in the Abbey, Custom House, Market, and Inishtown Wards, and portion of the Castle Ward, east of the Shannon.

DEATH OF COLONEL REILLY

The death, which we record with regret, took place yesterday at Fort Euna, Patrickswell, of Colonel Reilly, after a few weeks' illness. The deceased gentleman had been living at Fort Euna for the past couple of years, and had attained a good age. He was for some years manager of the Earl of Denraven's stud farm at Fort Union, Adare, and was a well-known sportsman, being a good rider to hounds. The funeral will take place at 11 o'clock on Monday from Lurgan church for Adare.
