ance, remarks "Pepita" in the Mark Lane Express, if there is any reason to suspect there are noxious germs on the premises.

During hot weather the cellar, lavatories, and cesspools about the house and barn should be treated to a good disinfectant every week. During the winter months these places require only an occasional disinfecting.

Thorough ventilation of the house in winter is more difficult than in summer-time, especially if there is sickness or a member of the family who is inclined to take cold easily. When thorough ventilation is hindered the house may be kept in a sanitary condition by the use of a disinfectant.

When there is sickness in the house it is a good plan to keep a small dish of carbolic acid solution in one corner of the bedroom for disinfecting purpose. A little of this solution sprinkled in the sleeping rooms, &c., at any time will keep them in a sanitary condition, which is very important.
