LIMERICK OFFICER'S DEATH.

Lieutenant Joseph Hanrahan, National Army, who was fired at and seriously wounded, while speaking to a young lady in Roxborough Road on Tuesday night last, died in St. John's Hospital at mid-day yesterday. The deceased was 21 years of age, and son of Mr John Hanrahan, Ryves' Path. Prior to joining the Army, Lieut Hanrahan was employed at the G.S. and W. Railway, and for some months past was officer in charge of the military guard at the railway terminus. He was a capable and courteous officer, who enjoyed the confidence of his superiors and of his men, and was held in high esteem by a large number of civilian friends, who deplore his untimely end.

The Inquest.

Last evening, in St. John's Hospital, Mr J S McNeils and a jury held an inquest on the remains of the deceased officer.

Sergeant Noone represented the Civil Guard.

John Hanrahan, Ryves' Path, brother of the deceased, gave evidence of identification. He said his brother was 21 years of age and unmarried. Prior to joining the Army, he was employed as a waggon builder in the G.S. and W.R. Company's Locomotive Works, Limerick.

Dr J Roberts stated he examined the deceased on the night of the occurrence. There were two wounds in the body, one in the back, and another in the abdomen. To the best of his opinion the wound in the front was an exit wound. Death was due to peritonitis, caused by these wounds, which were gunshot wounds.

Mr H O'B Moran, Solicitor, appeared for the military, and on their behalf applied for an adjournment of the enquiry with a view to having evidence produced.

The enquiry was adjourned until 3 o'clock on Monday in the Town Hall.
