WAGES IN FLOUR MILLING TRADE

It is understood (says the "Irish Times") that no settlement was reached at the adjourned conference of Irish flour millers and their employees which took place on Wednesday relative to a proposal that the workers' wages should be reduced by 18s per week in the case of city mills, with a lower "cut" in the case of country mills.

The situation will be discussed at a general meeting of the men at Liberty Hall on Sunday morning at 11.30 o'clock. Should no further conference take place every flour mill in the Free State area will, it is stated, be obliged to close down owing to keen foreign competition and the present rate of wages.

Later armed men arrived at the Ennis Station, Ennis, and demanded money from the Republic from the stationmaster, Doyle, who told them he had none. They then left.
