GAIETY THEATRE.

A very fine film, "Western Speed," will, as may be seen by advertisement, be produced at the Gaiety Theatre to-night and Wednesday. On Thursday, Friday, and Saturday a great attraction will be the thrilling picture in eight reels, entitled "Saturday Night." Leatrice Joy and Jack Mower narrowly escaped death several times in the filming of a motor car accident episode in "Saturday Night," Cecil B DeMille's latest Paramount picture. But the narrowest escape came when Miss Joy stumbled and accidentally fell on the railway bridge a hundred feet above the ground. In this episode Miss Joy and Mr Mower attempt to cross a railway bridge in a motor car, only to be trapped mid-way across by an approaching electric train. In their frantic efforts to escape they rush for the distant end of the bridge. Realising that this is impossible, Mower was to force Miss Joy to clamber over the edge of the bridge with him, where the pair would hang suspended while the train rushed above them, brushing the motor car. While filming the scene in which the trapped pair attempt to outrun the train, Miss Joy stumbled over one of the ties and fell, rolling within a few inches of the edge of the bridge. Dizzy from constant work at that height, and surprised by the fall, she was powerless to help herself. Only good fortune saved her falling to certain death. Although the stumble was purely accidental, Mr DeMille retained the scene in the picture, on the ground that it was absolute realism. Conrad Nagel, Edith Roberts, Julia Faye, and Theodore Roberts have important roles.

TRIPS ON THE RIVER.

So long a time has elapsed since Limerick people have had an opportunity of enjoying an excursion by steamer that we are sure the announcement which appears in our advertising columns will be read with pleasure. Two trips have been arranged by the Galway Bay Steamboat Company, whose steamer "Dan Aengus," commanded by Captain Meskill, a Limerick man, will run to Beigh Castle on Saturday afternoon, and to Foynes on Sunday. The "Dan Aengus" is a fine vessel, engaged in the passenger and cargo service between Galway and the Aran Islands. In the trip to Foynes excursionists will be practically twelve hours in the open air. Seven hours will be spent at Foynes, and the scenery of that beautiful place is an attraction in itself, not to mention the views on both shores of the Shannon. It is to be hoped that the enterprise of the Galway Bay Steamboat Company will receive that measure of public support which it undoubtedly deserves.

"FREEMAN'S JOURNAL" SPECIAL SUPPLEMENT.
