

of Pery Square.

of road reconstruction at present out in the city there is general disapproval on the part of the people. The Mayor P. Dillon, who had been handicapped by the weather since he undertook this work in the course of a couple of months, has now expedited the schedule of streets included in the programme. He is now engaged in concreting Pery-street and Ryves' Path, and when these works are finished he will concentrate on the other streets. It would appear now that the only work to be done has only been made for treating one important thoroughfare in concrete—Pery-street. There can be no meaning in the proposal, and the Corporation should not lay out this very fine street in all laid down material as the other avenues in the city. The proposal of cheese-pairing will not commend itself to the citizens, who are anxious that the work should be fully done, and without the usual half-measures.

THE GRAND CENTRAL.

At the Grand Central last night Mr. W. Revill's engaging and humorous entertainment "From London to New York" was presented to large audiences at both houses. As the bill says, "London to New York" is constructed to provide a tonic, and this was exemplified last night in the very hilarious laughter which permeated the audience. The revue is undoubtedly conceived on novel lines, full of go and vim, and clear of anything that could offend the susceptibilities of the most sensitive. It is made up of clever songs, comic situations, agreeable and sprightly dances, with a background of bright and attractive scenery. It is a tip-top entertainment, and should not be missed by those on the look out for a healthy show with an abundance of merriment.
