coming session on housing, food prices, and other matters, in contrast with that of the Government, and simultaneously carry on an educative propaganda in the country. The country wanted a steady lead on the lines of the Socialist policy, differentiated from reaction on the one hand and Communism on the other.

Mr Thomas, in regard to the railway position and the threatened "cuts," referred his interviewer to the machinery already established to adjudicate upon the claims of either side. It ought to be used, and, in his opinion, would be used.

Both gentlemen had a rousing reception at Bristol, where the train stopped, and they signed numerous autographs.

side of the programme was supplied by a combination of artists. It comprised all the most popular revue novelties, and was a decidedly entertaining show. The singing was capital, the dances clever and graceful, and the situations humorous without being vulgar.

DATE FOR STRIKING RATE.

The Limerick Farmers' Union have passed a resolution asking the Minister for Local Government to change the date for striking the local rate to a date subsequent to 31st March if the elections were not held by that date, so as to give an opportunity to the new Councils to strike the rate.

DAMAGE TO PLANTATION AT BALLYVALLEY.

Mr A Parker, Ballyvalley, complained at Killaloe Court that although he had given permission to poor people to take "firings" from his demesne, some of them abused the privilege and had destroyed an entire plantation. Mr Gleeson, D.J., issued a warning that in any future cases of larceny of timber proved before him the culprits would go to jail without the option of a fine.

WHERE DIGESTION ENDS

The reason why so many people always feel out of sorts without being actually ill is because the bowl stage of their digestive process is at fault. In short, they are suffering from bowel indigestion with its train of distressing symptoms—sluggish liver, bilious complexion and eyes, moroseness, irritability, that tired feeling, mental languor, etc. To keep the bowels in healthy working order, to ensure the perfect performance of the final or bowel stage of digestion, and enjoy first-rate health year in and year out, there is no remedy to equal Cooke's Pills. If you have the above symptoms get a box of Cooke's Pills to-day, take two at bed-time, and you will eat and enjoy the best breakfast you have had for weeks. Small pill, new size, at 1s 1/2d per box, of all chemists.

DEATH OF MR. JOHN COFFEY.

The death, which we announce with regret, after a protracted illness, took place on Sunday of Mr John Coffey at his residence, Lower Gerald Griffin-street. The deceased, who had reached an advanced age, was for forty-five years a relieving officer in the service of the Limerick Board of Guardians, and retired five years ago on full pension. He was an extremely painstaking official, and his demise will be learned with regret by very many friends in the city and county, as well as in Clare.

THE SAFETY OF ST PAUL'S.

Statement by Canon Alexander.

Referring to the question of the fabric of the Cathedral at the close of his sermon, at St Paul's on Sunday afternoon, Canon Alexander said that there was no need for panic or for sensational statements. Their present advisers, who had at least the advantage of knowing the facts, told them that, while the building might soon become dangerous if adequate remedies were not applied, those who wished to come there might do so in perfect safety. In their judgment, the dome would not fall to-day or to-morrow.
