

ce Crump, aged 16 years, was charged with the larceny of a fur valued for £11 the premises of James Ryan, The le, Patrick street, on the 8th inst. She also charged with having on the same stolen a lady's hat valued at 7s. 11d. Mrs. Quin's premises in Patrick street. Superintendent O'Reilly prosecuted, and S. Gaffney, solicitor, defended.

Gaffney, on behalf of the accused, pled guilty.

Kate Meany, sister of the accused, charged with being in the illegal possession of the hat, knowing it to have been stolen.

Ryan identified the fur (produced) as his property. It was valued for £11, and he missed it from his stock on the 8th inst. Guard Mulroy gave evidence as to his investigation of the case.

The mother of the accused pleaded for leniency.

Mr. Flood said he sympathised with the defendants, but he would have to protect the interests of the city. He strongly commended the work of Guard Mulroy, and said his opinion on the occasion reflected the greatest credit on his detective abilities. He was most tired of commending the good work of Guard Mulroy, and he would ask Superintendent O'Reilly to convey his appreciation of Guard Mulroy's excellent detective work to the proper authorities.

Mr. Gaffney—He is a most excellent lawyer.

Miss Crump was sentenced to two months' imprisonment in connection with the larceny of the fur, and one month for the second offence, the sentences to run concurrently.

Miss Meany was sentenced to one month, not to take effect if she was of good behaviour for twelve months.

A number of motor lorry owners were prosecuted for carrying passengers on their lorries, whilst only having commercial licences.

The defence was that there were no licences for those people, and the cases were dismissed.

John J. Foley, Wickham-street, was fined for wastage of water.

Margaret Gleeson, Market Alley, was prosecuted at the suit of the Corporation exposing for sale one box of herrings which were unfit for human consumption.

Mr. P. Forrest, Food and Drugs Inspector, when he became suspicious of the herrings, took some for sample. On being examined by Dr. M. S. McGrath, Superintendent Medical Officer of Health, they were found to be rank. Mr. Forrest then got an order from a local Peace Commissioner to have them destroyed, which he did.

The defence was that the defendant had received the herrings on the 16th inst. from
