THE COURTS BILL.

How Limerick Will be Affected.

Under the provisions of the Courts Bill the fines imposed in the City District Court will in future be transferred from the Corporation Borough Fund to the National Exchequer. This is a departure which will react on the city, and the Corporation intend to make an effective protest against the provision, and to ask the city and county T.D's to oppose it in the Dail. Since the earliest days the Corporation has been in receipt of the moneys derived from fines in the City Court, and which have in part been used to pay the Mayor's salary and the wages of his sergeants. For the year just ended the amount received by the Corporation was £400, and in return the Corporation were obliged to maintain, keep in repair, and equip the City Courthouse, and since 1921 the sheriff's salary is paid by the Municipality. The Corporation regard the provision in the Bill as an infringement of their rights, and are determined to resist

THE HOLY YEAR JUBILEE.

Perfect weather favoured the second of the Holy Year Jubilee Processions in Limerick on Sunday of the members of the Arch-Confraternity attached to the Redemptorist Church. Six thousand men took part in the event, the boys' division being eliminated on this occasion, with the object of curtailing the time taken to make the visits. As on the previous occasion, the procession was again marshalled in the grounds adjoining the Redemptorist Church, Mount St. Alphonsus, and was under way at two o'clock, the scheduled time. As the great religious demonstration passed along the streets taken in on the route to the four churches, St. John's Cathedral, St. Mary's, St. Joseph's, and back to the Redemptorist Church, it presented an imposing and edify ing spectacle. It was preceded by surpliced Cross-bearers and acolytes, who were followed next in order by the St. John's Workingmen's Band, then the members of the St. John's Division, preceded by a statue of St. Alphonsus, midway down the division being located St. Mary's Fife and Drum Band. Next came St. Michael's Division, preceded by a statue of St. Patrick, and the Boherbuoy Brass and Reed Band, centre ways down being the Sarsfield Fife and Drum Band, the end of the procession being brought up by a beautiful grouped statue of the Holy Family. The members wore ribbon and medal, and during the route prayers were recited and hymns sung. The Rev. Father Hickey and Rev Father Reynolds said the Jubilee prayers at the churches, and at six o'clock the procession returned to the Redemptorist Church.

The final visits will be made on the 30th instant.

CLERICAL CHANGES.

The Rev. Father Potter, S.J., Rector Sacred Heart Church has been

was poor stun compared with the way it was played in other centres. Too much attention was given to the forward game, and it was only by strict application to training they would improve and win. They should always play the game in the proper spirit.

Mr J. S. McNeice, who also replied, said that the game should be played from the sporting standpoint, and it was generally admitted that whether victorious or not Bohemians were always sportsmen

The toast of "The Press" was given by Mr T. F. Ryan, the newly-elected President, and responded to by Mr. W. S. Burke.

Mr W. O. Hudson, in proposing the health of the outgoing President, said in Mr O'Sullivan, the Club had a great asset. He had filled the position of president four years, and had retired in favour of Mr Ryan, who would be a worthy successor. Mr O'Sullivan had never countenanced anything but to play the game—a motto which he trusted the Bohemian Club would always stand for as a first principle in sport of all kinds. (Applause.)

Mr O'Sullivan, replying, said if others had laid the club's foundation, Mr Hudson was chief builder, and the man who opened the scoring for Bohemians,

Mr Stokes, proposing the toast of "The Munster Teams," said in the province they had teams of whom they felt proud, and especially the team that brought the Munster Cup to Limerick, and was only narrowly beaten for possession of the Dr. Bateman He believed Garryowen would have won the Bateman Cup only that they had to play Ulster one day and Leinster the next day, and he saw no reason why the trophy could not have been played for in two consecutive Saturdays. The present arrangement was not fair to Munster teams, and it should be remedied. They were proud of their junior teams, particularly the Christian Brothers' boys, who had brought the Schools Cup to Limerick for the first time in a quarter of a century. (Applause).

Musical items were contributed by Messrs M. Quilligan, F. Keane, W. DeCourcey, J. Keeney, W. R. O'Flynn, and Dr W. J. Mulcahy, Mr Kennett Ray presiding at the
