THANKS.

Miss Gwynn returns very grateful thanks country calling itself civilized. It was only on a par with the manner in which these hallowed places were kept in other parts of the county. If they believed in the resurrection of the dead they should as a Council do their duty by putting "God's Acre" into a proper condition. The walks should be trimmed and gravelled, and the rank grass, nettles, and docks removed. (Hear, hear).

Mr Quinlan, concurring, remarked that the condition of the county graveyards was a disgrace to humanity.

The Chairman—At a recent meeting of the Health Board we had this subject before us, and I am sure it will receive the attention it deserves from that Board.

Mr O'Callaghan—Local committees would be willing to co-operate with the Health Board in the matter, and to subscribe towards the expense of keeping graveyards in proper order.

Mr Quinlan remarked that there was a difficulty sometimes in doing the proper thing, as people would not allow interference with the graves of their relatives.

Mr Madden said with their boasted Christianity and love for these hallowed places, the way in which they were kept constituted a national shame.

Messrs. Quaide and Hanrahan having agreed in the views put forward, the matter was referred to the Health Board to take the necessary steps to have what had been complained of remedied forthwith.

DEATH OF MR THOMAS LEONARD.

We regret to record the death of an old and highly esteemed citizen, Mr Thomas Leonard, which took place yesterday at his residence, Mannix Villas, O'Connell Avenue, after a short illness.
