Chairman—I would suggest that you call the attention of the local picture house proprietors to these regulations immediately.

Mr T. Roche—That would be the best way to deal with the matter.

It was accordingly decided to send copies of the regulations to the local picture houses, and request that they be complied with in all particulars.

THE LATE ALDERMAN THOMPSON.

At a meeting of the Delegate Board of the Mechanics' Institute the following resolution was passed unanimously, all delegates standing in silence:—“Resolved—That we tender with deep regret our sincere sympathy to Mrs Thompson and family in her sad bereavement, and pray that God may strengthen her to bear the loss she has sustained. To know Joe Thompson was to love him. May God be merciful to his soul.”—J. Reddan, Sec.

THE LATE MR. GEO. O'CALLAGHAN, M.C.C.

At Newcastle West Town Commissioners, Mr Clifford said since the last meeting the death had taken place of Mr George O'Callaghan, M.C.C., and he believed his death was a public loss. Mr O'Callaghan was a very able man, a conscientious public representative, and a great advocate of the Labour cause. He proposed that they tender to his family and relatives their deep sympathy.

Mr T. Mulcahy seconded the resolution.

The Chairman said everybody who knew Mr O'Callaghan regretted his death. He was a man of outstanding ability, and never hesitated to speak his mind in public when he conceived it to be his duty to do so. He was certainly a great loss to the Labour movement in the county, but, of course, to the members of his own family his loss was incalculable. They certainly had the sympathy of all classes in their sorrow.

The resolution was passed in silence, and the meeting adjourned.

DIED AT A FUNERAL.

A distressing occurrence took place in Kilnagariff graveyard on Sunday evening when a farmer named John O'Leary, of Clonshavoy, Barrington's Bridge, collapsed and died almost immediately. He was attending the funeral of Mrs Cullinan, Ahane, Castleconnell, and was seated in a horse trap when he had the seizure which terminated fatally. He was promptly attended by one of the officiating clergy, who administered the last rites of the church to the dying man before he passed away in presence of the large body of mourners who attended.

PROVISION OF FIRE APPLIANCES

At Newcastle West.

At Newcastle West Town Commissioners, The Chairman said he had been asked by a number of townspeople to bring before the Commissioners a matter of vital importance to the community. They were aware that they had no fire-fighting appliances of any sort. If a fire broke out at night in a central part of the town, the town would almost certainly be burned to the ground. That was not a nice situation to contemplate. The question for them was could they do anything to remedy that situation.

Mr Roche—There is no doubt that it is Providence that is saving the town.

Mr Clifford—I am afraid we could not get a fire engine. It would be too expensive.

Chairman—I do not mean that, but that we should have some simple appliances.

Mr Mulcahy—We have only a fire-ladder now.

Chairman—I think the people would be glad to have some fire-fighting material at hand.

Mr Clifford—But I am afraid they would not care to pay for it.

Chairman—For their own self-protection they certainly should.

After some further discussion, the matter was adjourned for a larger meeting.
