

is Mrs McGrath, wife of Dr McGrath, Superintendent Medical Officer of Health, the work is carried on each day during the week, and a large number of repasts are supplied at the normal sum of twopence in the case of dinners, and a penny for a cup of tea with bread and butter. Contributions in money and kind are made by many friends, but the cost of running the kitchen is far in excess of the receipts, and much additional help is necessary if this charitable work is to be carried on unimpaired. And if a reminder were needed of its absolute need, and its utility, it is the severe weather through which we have passed this winter, and the boon it is to the poor to be supplied with comfortable meals under cheerless and trying circumstances atmospherically. We trust, therefore, that full financial support will be forthcoming to carry on this highly deserving cause of charity.

THE LATE MR F. C. CLEEVE.

The funeral of the late Mr Frederick C. Cleeve, took place yesterday morning from Woodlands, Castleconnell, for St. Mary's Cathedral cemetery, where the cortege arrived at 11 o'clock. As the funeral had been announced to be private, the attendance was confined to the chief mourners and some intimate friends of the family, as well as some of the older members of the staff of the Condensed Milk Factory.

The officiating clergy were—The Dean, the Precentor, the Rev. Canon L. G. Davis, Castleconnell, and Rev. J. R. Ennis. The Bishop of Limerick was also present. The Service in the Cathedral was partly choral, and included the hymns, "My God, My Father," and "Rock of Ages," sung by the choir. The Dead March in Saul was played on the organ by Mr Muspratt as the coffin was being borne to its last resting place, a moss-lined grave.

The chief mourners were—Aylmer Cleeve, Charles Cleeve (sons); J. W. Cleeve (brother); E. J. Cleeve and H. Cleeve (nephews); M. D. Shaw (son-in-law).

Wreaths were sent by the following—
"From Nancy, Mollie, Terence, and Anne, Shelbourne"; "From Malcolm, Olive, and Peter"; "From Aylmer and Cynthia"; "From all at Oaklands"; "From Charles and Eleanor"; "From Phoebe and Lil"; "Mr and Mrs. J. P. Goodbody"; "Mrs Hamilton-Wedderburn"; "From Capt. and Mrs. Eric Shaw"; "Mrs Rushbrooke"; "Gladys and Frank, Sunville"; "From 'Jen'"; two wreaths not labelled; "From Ellen and Annie O'Brien."

Saturday at 3 o'clock.

CITY TUBERCULOSIS SCHEME.

At the meeting of the Corporation Public Health Committee a letter was read from the Department inquiring if any steps were being taken by the Corporation to formulate a scheme for the treatment of tuberculosis cases in the city.

Mr Reidy suggested they should write and tell the Department that the Corporation framed a scheme twelve months ago, and that it was the Department who held it up.

The Mayor, who said he was getting tired of the Local Government Department, concurred with Mr Reidy's suggestion. "Perhaps," the Mayor added, "they will then wake up to the facts."

LIMERICK WATER SUPPLY.

At the Corporation Water Committee on Wednesday evening, the Mayor presiding, a discussion arose with reference to repairs to the reservoir at Clareville. It was stated by Mr Peacocke, City Surveyor, that it had been decided to fill up the splits with concrete and have them covered with asphalt. It was also agreed to put some preparation in the cement, such as ironide, to counteract contraction and expansion. The splits, he said, were not serious and did not leak at 12 feet down, and the water was now below the 12 feet mark.

It was decided that the Surveyor carry out the repairs that he had recommended.
