DEFENDER OF VERDUN.

Famous General Dead.

The death in Paris of General Maurice Sarrail, former French High Commissioner for Syria, is announced in a Reuter telegram.

General Sarrail had a long career of very distinguished military service. He saw war in Algeria and Tunis, but his best work before the European conflict was done as an organiser. At the beginning of the Great War he commanded the Third French Army, and was later appointed C.I.C. of the Allied Armies in the East.

He commanded the famous 6th Army Corps at the pivotal point on the Western Front, and his withdrawal to the Meuse was regarded as a masterpiece of fighting and manoeuvring.

At Verdun he held the fortress with three Army Corps and three divisions of Reserves and smashed up the attacks of seven German Army Corps.

When he was High Commissioner of Syria his relations with the Druses were not of the happiest, and he got into hot water over the bombardment of Damascus.

DEATH OF REV. BROTHER M. BROPHY.

We regret to observe the announcement of the death of the Rev. Brother M. Brophy which occurred at the Industrial School, Carriglea, at the ripe age of 87 years. The older generation in Limerick will remember him as Superior of the Christian Brothers Schools in this city. He was a gentleman of a very kindly disposition, and was held in affectionate regard and esteem by the pupils of the schools in whom he took a zealous and abiding interest. He took an active part in promoting concerts and other entertainments for the benefit of the Schools.

A great many of the new Spring Gowns, Smart Tailor-mades, Hats, and novelties in Sports Wear, selected by Miss Nestor during her recent visit to London, have now arrived at 1 Patrick Street.
