

can carry on and do much useful work for a long time yet," and in this the Conservative Party will not embarrass them.

GRAND CENTRAL.

"The Rainbow Man."

Crowded houses at the Grand Central last night thoroughly enjoyed "The Rainbow Man," a splendid talking picture, which has the additional and very attractive feature of the vocal numbers that run through it. These were listened to with great pleasure. The picture, one of the best that has come here, is an undoubted treat, and as it will be on during the week should not be missed.

It is a film in a class by itself, not only in the artless naivete of its story, but in the sincerity and charm of its treatment. Featuring the musical numbers of the production are "Little Pal," "The Rainbow Man," and "Sleepy Valley." The story is descriptive of little Billy, the son of an acrobat, who fell from the trapeze and died on the stage. He is committed to the care of "Rainbow Ryan," a renowned minstrel. Doc Hardy's travelling show puts up at an Arcadian hotel, the owner of which, Col. Lane, hates actors, because one of his daughters had run away and married Bill the acrobat. Mary, Lane's daughter, bakes a birthday cake for the boy; the Colonel orders Rainbow and Billy out of the hotel, and Doc Hardy "fires" them. They go to New York, where weeks later Mary, searching for Billy, whose relationship has been discovered, finds them. Rainbow proposes to Mary and is accepted. Lane has followed Mary to New York, and pleads with Rainbow to allow her and the boy to return to Arcadia with him. For the sake of the two he loved Rainbow consents, almost breaking Mary's heart and his own. Down and out, Doc Hardy meets him and offers him a partnership, which he accepts. During a visit to a town near Arcadia he again meets Mary and Billy, and all ends happily. There is a strong cast, and good dialogue, clever acting, and popular song inserts, are characteristics of the production.

Performances at 6.45 and 9 p.m. Matinees Thursday and Saturday at 3.15.

FOUND DEAD IN BED.

Nenagh, Monday.—Mrs Julia Monaghan, widow of the late ex-sergeant Monaghan, R.I.C., of 14 Sexton street, Limerick, was found dead in bed this morning at the residence of her nephew, Mr Thomas Dunne, Old Turnpike, Nenagh, with whom she resided since the death of her husband a few months ago.

At an inquest by Dr A. W. Courtney to-day, a verdict that death was due to heart failure was returned.

Miss Nestor having recently returned from London is now showing all the latest designs in Tweed coats, also face cloth trimmed skunk Day and Evening Gowns, Fur Felts, Velours in all the newest shades and fittings.—1 Patrick Street.

parochial clergy should be invited to give their opinion as to the possibility of holding such schools in one or two centres in the country districts.

It was announced that the Council for the whole Church of Ireland, which meets once a week in Dublin, has in preparation a Missionary Litany to take the place of the Litany put forth twenty-five years ago. This new form will probably be ready in time for the Services throughout Ireland next month.

MESSRS PIGOTT & CO.

Sale of Pianos, Harmoniums, and American Organs.

It will be seen by advertisement that commencing on Monday, the 21st October, and continuing through the week until Saturday 26th instant, inclusive, Messrs Pigott & Co., Ltd., Music Warehouse, 111, O'Connell street, are holding an extensive sale of new and slightly used pianos, also harmoniums and American organs at reduced prices.

Most of the slightly used pianos have recently been returned from hire, and as all prices have been considerably reduced, Messrs Pigott & Co. anticipate a ready demand.

Their premises will remain open on Wednesday and Friday evenings until 8 o'clock, and their Sales Manager from Dublin will be in attendance to meet and advise prospective customers.

SENATE VACANCY.

The Senate, it is expected, will immediately proceed to fill the vacancy created by the death of Sir Nugent Everard. There are four nominations, viz., General Sir George Franks, of Ballysaddane, Knocklong, Co. Limerick, who is proposed by General Sir Wm. Hickie; Mr M. Stannes, ex-member of the Dublin Corporation and the Dail of 1921; and Messrs R. A. Butler, and P. J. Brady, both of whom have already sat in the Senate, and between whom, apparently, the choice of selection now rests.

WHY WORRY ?

FURNISH OUT OF INCOME.

MCCARTHY'S

TERMS ARE EASY.

40 O'Connell Street, Limerick.

journalists. be considered perhaps, the days gone Western E when the o a mass of that brought tribes, and be seen in the Cortine he continued and passed strasse, and that it was had been f Fathers in t out Europe institutions to be found Vienna, N Oelz, and thought, th all these cou period of eig ing and st Irish monks amongst the therefore th were no s small way their best to show that Ir to strangers quite sure tl respond an represented described a that she had tions to the comed them when they r their fellow always recei the beauties her possibili tional welco Mile Fáilte.

The May a matter of associated w by Mr Gaffn wished to ex welcome to t they intende Hospitality character in had inherite wished the They represe ed section of