DEATH OF VISCOUNTESS GUILLAMORE.

Numerous friends in Counties Limerick and Tipperary will regret to learn of the death of Mary, widow of Hugh Massy Hammond, 7th Viscount Guillamore, which took place at Saltash, Cornwall, on Tuesday last. She survived her husband but a few months, as his lordship died at his residence, Castlegarde, in this county, in the month of June last, in the 70th year of his age. The deceased lady was a daughter of Vere Hunt, J.P., of Cappawhite, and was very highly respected and esteemed in the Newpallas district, where she resided for many years.
She was in failing health for a considerable time, and left for England only quite recently. The interment took place at Saltash.
