

solr., appeared for the Maiden street, was also reach of the licensing laws
 gave evidence to the effect
 an sitting in the kitchen ;
 satisfactorily accounted for.
 went to the back of the
 upon three men in a field
 yard. One of the men premises, and he would
 at any time as he was Hannon told him she who was trailing a horse
 led the other men were on stated that she had Tobin ng a horse, and he used her and a drink on the others were not on the corroborated.
 nor denied he was on the aid he would fine the e horse trainer would be bird man 10s.

BOUR TIDE TABLE.

MARCH.

OF THE MOON.

7th	7 44 a.m.
15th	12 41 p.m.
2nd	12 37 p.m.
9th	3 44 a.m.

TIDES.

	MORNING.		EVENING
	Height.	Time.	Height.	Time.
1	F. L.	H. M.	F. L.	H. M.
7	17 0	11 59	16 9	12 39
7	16 7	2 13	16 8	3 34
3	17 3	3 34	17 3	4 34
0	18 1	4 34	18 6	5 28
3	19 6	5 28	19 9	6 11
2	21 0	6 11	21 0

influenced by the weather.

LORD ATKINSON DEAD.

A Former Lord of Appeal.

We regret to announce that Lord Atkinson, a former Lord of Appeal in Ordinary, died at his residence in Hyde Park, London, aged 87. He was one of the first of the Irish Bar to be appointed a Lord of Appeal direct from the Bar. The son of Edward Atkinson, M.D., J.P., of Glenwilliam Castle, Co. Limerick, John Atkinson was educated at the Belfast Academy and the old Queen's University. In 1865 he was called to the Irish Bar, and having acquired a large miscellaneous practice "took silk" in 1880.

His appearance before the Parnell Commission probably laid the foundation of his fortune. In 1889 he became Solicitor-General for Ireland, and three years later Attorney-General, though he was not in Parliament. In the general election of 1895 he won a victory over his Liberal opponent in North Derry, and was again made Attorney-General. He held this post till 1905, when he was appointed Lord of Appeal in Ordinary to succeed Lord Lindley. He resigned in February, 1928.

Lord Atkinson's wife, who died in 1911, was Rowena, daughter of the late Richard Chute, Tralee. They married in 1873.

The "Times," in its obituary notice, says: The Bar especially will recall that in his long service as Lord of Appeal-in-Ordinary he displayed in a high degree the judicial qualities of sound commonsense, industry, scrupulous fairness and consideration to all who practised before him.

"He was," says the "Times," "modest almost to a fault in claiming merit for the work which he put into a case."

In the old days Lord Atkinson, then Mr John Atkinson, Q.C., went the Munster Circuit, and figured in many important civil cases at Limerick Assizes.

There are signs of a betterment in the situation in Shanghai.

me.
 The Mayor sa
 tion would, he
 with the mem
 Council, as the place any unnec
 payers, which
 business and em
 The deputatio
 The Committee
 of the annual gr
 Mr Goodwin l
 rates estimated,
 hospitals from th
 contribution by
 deferred for, say
 local hospitals c
 the belief that Corporation mig
 again, but he c
 would be only s
 of the present
 proposed that
 £1,180 estimate
 would mean abo
 Mr P. Bourke
 Mr Angley I
 The proposal of hardship to the good work for tl
 Mr O'Meally
 views. They c
 the grant would
 whenever neces
 at a peak figure,
 to hardship the
 Mr Keyes a
 forward, but w
 creating any ha
 Mr Moore sec
 poll the voting
 For Mr Good
 McNamara, J.
 Hickey, C. O'Ma
 J. Casey, P. J
 Cusack, Ald. M
 Rooney, R. DeC
 Against—Me
 Ald. Madigan,
 Cronin, O. Horr
 J. Angley—10,
 The resolutio