mittee, held Wed. night, Dr Moran, M.O.H., reported one case of influenza-pneumonia, six of scarlatina, fifteen of diphtheria, and one of enteric fever had been notified since last meeting. He recommended a scheme of anti-diphtheria immunisation in the schools, such as was practiced in several parts of the country. The immunisation would be carried out by a series of three inoculations at weekly intervals. The cost of serum per person would be about 1s. 4d., which would mean that a large number of people could be inoculated for the cost of treating one person suffering from diphtheria. He applied for serum and medical equipment and for permission to obtain the services of a medical assistant in the event of other duties requiring his attention.

The Mayor said he was reluctant to give the scheme any support, as it was not at present known what the scheme was going to cost. As was the case in previous schemes, the contemplated proposal from being a small one might develop into a very large one and add an additional burden to the rates.

Dr Moran said the scheme as proposed by him would cost about £100 per year.

It was decided to adjourn the matter for further consideration.

DEATH OF MR. T. MORAN.

A well-known and respected citizen, Mr Timothy Moran, passed away at his residence, Prospect, Tues. evening after an illness of a few weeks duration. The deceased who had reached an advanced age, was in early life engaged in commercial pursuits in this city and in Liverpool. Thirty years ago he was appointed to a position on the Mayor's staff by the late Mr James Barry. He was Registrar of the Court of Conscience, a duty he discharged with ability and courtesy, and he also held the position of Old-age Pension Clerk of the Glentworth and Shannon Ward Committee. Mr Moran was a very kindly and obliging official, and his death will be learned with deep regret by all who knew him.
