If they are not prepared to do that, if the position is beyond their capacity, then their obvious duty is to resign and let the city be managed by a person who will be ready to encounter all opposition and give the people what they most need—a reduction in local taxation, or, what is next best, that it will not soar above its present abnormally high figure.

DEATH OF MRS. B. HASSETT.

Widespread sympathy will be extended to Mr James Hassett on the death of his wife, Mrs Bridget Hassett, which took place at her residence, Sexton Street North, this morning. The deceased lady had been ailing during the past two months, and the end, which came peacefully, was not unexpected. Mrs Hassett was of a very amiable and charitable disposition, and endeared herself to a wide circle of friends. She was a sister of Mr John O'Sullivan, an official in the City Rate Collector's department, and her husband was identified with the municipal life of the borough for a number of years as a member of the Borough Council, to which he was elected after the passing of the Local Government Act, 1898. By the death of his wife he suffers a heavy bereavement, and sincere sympathy will be given him and his family in their loss.

The remains will be removed to St. Munchin's Church at 7 o'clock this evening, and the funeral will leave for Mount St. Lawrence at 3 o'clock to-morrow.
