DEATH OF MR. CHARLES THOMSON.

We regret to announce the death of Mr Charles Thomson, which took place at The Bungalow, Janesboro', on Thursday. The deceased had been ailing for a very considerable time, and his death was not unexpected. It comes as a s vere blow to his sister, with whom sincere sympathy will be felt in her bereavement. The late Mr Thomson was for forty-five years connected with the firm of Messrs. J. & G. Boyd, Ltd., in the imple- ment department. During that time he strictly applied himself to the pursuit of his calling, and was one of the foremost authori- ties in this country on agricultural machi- nery. He was immensely popular with customers and with the general public, and was held in the highest esteem by the directors of the firm, which he served faithfully.

The funeral, which was private, took place yesterday morning to St. Mary's Cathedral.
