COTTAGE REPAIRS.

The cost of repairs to cottages in the County Limerick has frequently engaged the attention of the County Board of Health. The question came before the meeting of the County Council last Saturday, when a motion was proposed and carried to give permission to the Health Board to raise a loan of £11,500 for the purpose of completing repairs. This, it was stated, is to be the final contribution from the rates for carrying out the work, which must within the past ten years have involved an outlay of £18,000, in view of the fact that cottages had during the war years and for some period subsequent been allowed to get into a state of disrepair. The obligation that rests on the Health Board to keep the houses watertight was shown in the proceedings taken before the Circuit Court Judge recently by a tenant for breach of contract in failure to keep her cottage in a proper state of repair. A decree was given, and in this connection the solicitor put the legal aspect of the matter before the members. He adverted to a similar case heard a few years ago, and urged the absolute necessity for a loan to enable the Board to carry out its legal obligations. On the subject of a loan Mr Hewson expressed the view at last Saturday's meeting that the rate of interest, 5½ per cent., was absurd, and suggested that the Government should be asked to provide the money at a more reasonable rate. With this contention there will be unanimity, having regard to the fact that the current Bank rate is only 3 per cent., and it would look as if the Government was out to make an unreasonable profit on advances made from the Local Loans Fund. Over a thousand cottages have now been put into a proper state of repair in the County of Limerick, although when the County Surveyor was asked to undertake the duties not a penny had been expended on them for years previously. It is manifest that if tenants are under an obligation to pay their rents the Board has an obligation to maintain the property, for the repair of which it is responsible. A goodly sum has been spent on this work, but there is still a lot of leeway to be made up, and this can only be accomplished by money being advanced at a rate of interest which will not weigh heavily on the ratepayers of the county. That cottage repairs exact a heavy demand on the resources of the Board of Health cannot be denied, and for that reason it would be advisable that the purchase scheme findings on which a commission of inquiry was held this year were implemented by the legislation. The Commission reported in favour of the sale of the cottages to the tenants, subject to their being put into a proper state of repair, and it is more than probable the Minister is waiting until the various local authorities have carried

Lotteries Act

Duke of Atholl Summoned.

The Duke of Atholl was summoned at Bow street to-day under section 41 of the Lotteries Act for the alleged sale of one ticket in a lottery not authorised by Act of Parliament. He pleaded not guilty. Mr Eustace Fulton, prosecuting, recalled the inception of the Duke's scheme, and said the Duke honestly believed he had invented a method enabling him to get round the provisions of the Lottery Act. On the back of the ticket was a statement wherein the Duke invited the public to purchase the tickets solely as a memento of a notable effort to assist British charities, the proceeds to be disposed of in any manner that the Duke in his discretion should think fit. Mr Fulton submitted that such words did not alter the true nature of the transaction. Referring to the circular sent out by the Duke, Mr Fulton said anyone outside those mentally deficient who read this document could not have doubted that it was the intention of the Duke to allot prizes to the holders of lucky tickets.

Mr Norman Birkett, defending, submitted there was no case against the Duke. Proof of consideration for purchase of ticket must be proved.

The magistrate decided there was a case for the defence to answer.

Mr Birkett called no evidence. The magistrate said as he might be asked to state a case by one side or the other, he would take time to consider his judgment, put it in writing, and give it on a date to be fixed, after consultation with counsel.

SEQUEL TO DUBLIN COURT SCENE.

Defendant Enters Into Recognisances.

The scene in the Dublin District Court yesterday, when a young man was placed in the dock after shouting "Up the Republic," and sentenced to six months' imprisonment, for refusing to enter into recognisances to be of good behaviour, had a sequel to-day, when Station Sergeant Maher asked Mr Little, D.J., to favourably consider permitting Keogh to enter into the recognisances. The bailsmen proposed were satisfactory to the Gardaí.

The defendant then entered into a recognisance of £50 in two sureties of £25 each to be of good behaviour for twelve months, and he was discharged.

TWO DISTINGUISHED PEOPLE DEAD.

Sir David Murray, R.A., a leading artist of his day, and for the past sixteen years President of the Royal Institute of Painters in Water Colours, died in London to-day, aged 84.

Sir Maugher Jer Morwanjee Bhowanagree, a distinguished Parsee, who was M.P. for North East Bethnal Green from 1895 to 1906, died in a London home to-day.

NEW PLAY BY THE COLLEGE PLAYERS.

Successful Production.

"The Show-Off" was produced, for the first time in this country, by the College Players at the Catholic Institute last night. It is a very clever play, and a capable caste did justice to it.

Miss Monica Kavanagh as "Clara" gave a refreshing interpretation of a married daughter, while Mr Joseph Daly as "Frank Hyland," her husband, realistically acted the part. Miss Nellie Dundon gave a splendid rendering of her role as a practical housewife, and some very brilliant passages were enacted between herself and Miss Pop Tynan, who as her infatuated daughter was very convincing throughout the piece. Mr Noel Joyce, who played

FUNERAL OF LADY CLEEVE.

The remains of the late Lady Phoebe Cleeve, relict of Sir Thomas H. Cleeve, J.P., D.L., who died on Friday morning at "Mangerton," Fleet, Hants, the residence of her son-in-law, Major MacGillicuddy, arrived in Limerick this morning by the 10.15 train from Rosslare for interment in the family burial place at St. Mary's Cathedral. The funeral was large and representative of all sections of the community, where the deceased lady was highly respected and esteemed for her charm of manner and charitable disposition. Along the route to the Cathedral the blinds of the P.Y.M.A., the monster drapery houses, and various other business establishments and hotels were drawn. At the Cathedral Mr F. Muspratt played on the organ "O, Rest in the Lord," as the remains were being borne into the sacred edifice from the motor hearse, and at the close of the ordinary Burial Service, Chopin's Funeral March was played. The coffin was strewn with beautiful wreaths of natural flowers sent by relatives and friends. The officiating clergy were the Dean of Limerick and the Rev. Treasurer Abbott, who conducted the Services in the church, and at the graveside the Committal Sentences were read by Treasurer Abbott.

The chief mourners were—Mr F. J. Cleeve and Mr Cecil E. Cleeve (sons of the deceased), Mr H. J. Cleeve (grandson), Mr J. W. Cleeve (brother-in-law), Mr Aymer Cleeve (nephew), Mr M. D. Shaw, Mrs F. J. Cleeve, Mrs J. W. Cleeve, Mrs H. J. Cleeve.

In addition to the officiating clergy, there were also present—Rev. Precentor Atkinson, Rev. Canon Orpen, Rev. A. E. Hewetson-Jones, Rev. J. R. Craig, and Rev. J. Mathers.

The general public included—The Mayor (Councillor P. E. Quinlan), Messrs J. P. Goodbody, G. E. Goodbody, F. A. Johnston, C. Slade, C.E.; L. O'Brien, B.L.J. McMahon, J. Dodds, solr.; Alderman P. J. Hughes D'Aeth"; "With deepest sympathy, from Edith Toomeire"; "With loving sympathy, from Gertie"; "With loving sympathy, from Flo and Eva"; "From a loving friend."

The grave was beautifully lined with moss and chrysanthemums by Mr Campbell, gardener at Sunville.

REMEMBRANCE SUNDAY

In Limerick.

Religious Services and Procession.

In Limerick on Sunday last Armistice Services were held, and the subsequent procession to the Memorial Cross took place in bright sunny weather.

The special Services held in St. Mary's Cathedral at 10.50 a.m. and 3.30 p.m., were attended by large congregations, particularly at Matins when the Cathedral was filled to overflowing by a congregation representative of city and county. Seats had been specially reserved for ex-Servicemen—officers, non-commissioned officers, and men—a large party of whom attended, and there were also representatives of the Women's Section of the British Legion, as well as the Church Lads' Brigade, Girl Guides, and Brownies. As usual, just preceding the Service wreaths were laid on the Thonmond War Memorial, immediately inside the western entrance, by the British Legion (Women's Section), the Church Lads' Brigade, the Cathedral Choir, and the G.F.S. The standard-bearers of the Legion colours, which at this ceremonial were borne down the aisle, were Major R. A. B. Chute and Miss L. Delmege. Wreaths were laid by Col. M. V. Furnell, and Mrs D. R. O'Brien (Women's Legion Section).

The processional hymn was "For all the Saints." After the Last Post had been sounded by a bugler from above the main entrance doorway there followed the two minutes' silence, after which came the stirring tones of the Reveille. The psalm selected was "God is our Hope and Strength." The anthems were that beautiful and touching composition, "O, Rest in the Lord," in which Mrs Metcalfe took the solo with true artistic expression and perfectly clear enunciation, and another very appropriate theme was "The Souls of the Righteous are in the Hand of God." The memorial hymn, "O, Valiant Hearts," was sung preceding the sermon. After the Benediction "God Save the King" was sung, and the recessional hymn was, "How Bright These Glorious Spirits Shine." The music was excellently interpreted by an augmented choir of ladies and gentlemen, Mr F. Muspratt presiding at the organ. The officiating clergy were—The Dean, and the Rev. J. G. Russell, Succentor. Rev. A. E. Hewetson-Jones was also robed.

The special preacher at Matins and Evensong was the Rev Canon R. McN. Boyd, B.D., M.C., late C.F., Rector of Killaloe. At morning service he took his text from part of the 12th Verse of the 8th Chapter of Romans, "Brethren we are debtors." In the course of an eloquent discourse he referred to his four years active service at the front, three of which he spent with the Infantry Brigade, which was seldom out of the front line trenches, and for that reason, said the preacher, he could appreciate the debt they owed not only to those who made the supreme sacrifice but to those who fought and returned broken from the conflict. He went on to observe that to guard against the sin of forgetfulness was the aim and object of these Remembrance Services, for it was right they should be reminded of the debt they owed to those who gave their lives in the greatest conflict the world had ever known, and which left memories that the flight of time could never wholly blot out. War, he emphasised, was nothing short of a bitter tragedy, and he went on to relate a touching story of the Prince of Wales, who visited a hospital hut at the front where he was told there were 36 patients. He saw but 29, and asked where were the remainder. He was then shown six, but still there was one missing, and being told that that patient was so disfigured that he could not see him, the Prince insisted, and stooping over the patient kissed his face. The preacher paid a warm tribute to the gallantry of the Irish Regiments, and went on to say that during these war years not only was a spirit of service manifested but of dependence upon God. They needed to-day more of that dependence upon God, for they lived in times of difficulty and perplexity the world over, and there was a tendency to take the part of least resistance which could not stand the test of God's righteousness. They must pray that the spirit of Christ may be brought into every relationship—domestic, national, and international. They needed fellowship and brotherhood between men and between nations, and they all could do their part in trying to create an atmosphere favourable to that ideal. In conclusion, the preacher made an earnest appeal for support of Earl Haig's Fund for ex-Servicemen, who, he emphasised, should not be in want to-day through no fault of their own.

The collections at both Services were for relief in connection with this Fund in Limerick City and district.
