
Sudden Death at Pallasgreen

Tragic Discovery Made by Wife

Michael Regan, 55, thatcher, Ballybrood, Pallasgreen, collapsed and died while engaged in bringing a bucket of water from a near-by well. The tragic discovery was made by his wife who, surprised at his lengthy absence, went to ascertain why he was not returning. He leaves five young children. Though never robust, he was about and in his usual health up to the time of his death. Very deep sympathy is extended to the bereaved family in their great sorrow.
