

Death of Mr Pat Mulqueen, Rosbrien.

General regret is felt in the immediate district, and all through the county and city at the death of Mr Patrick Mulqueen, Rosbrien, who passed away at his residence on Monday night. Deceased had earned deserved popularity for his honesty and straightforward character, his ever kindly disposition, being of a charming and winning nature, and he was the synonym of all that was neighbourly and anxious to lend a helping hand to those in distress. He was a member in his day of the Limerick No. 1 District Council and Board of Guardians, in which he took an active interest. The remains were removed to Raheen Church on Tuesday evening, and the interment, followed by a large cortege of mourners, took place to Kilkeedy on Wednesday afternoon.
