

Death of Noted Tulla Man

For twelve years the late Mr Patrick Culloo, of Tulla, filled the office of Coroner for East Clare with distinction and credit, and genuine regret was experienced by many and many Claremen when they read of his demise recently in Raheen District Hospital. It is a long period since the Rodyke evictions furnished troubled times in the adjoining areas of Tulla, etc., and Pat Culloo then did his part in the struggle cheering on the evicted tenants, when "horse, foot and artillery" dotted the hillsides helping on the old R.I.C. in their bludgeon and battering ram campaign to devastate the homes of a peaceable tenantry.
