

Death of Mr A J Sexton, Auctioneer

Well-Known Citizen Passes Away

A feeling of keen regret was felt in Limerick on Saturday at the announcement of the death of Mr A J Sexton, senr., the well-known city auctioneer. A more popular citizen was not to be met with. Kindly of heart and especially broad-minded and full of interesting social attributes, he had won the esteem, respect and good-will of all sections.

He was aged about 65 years, and had been on his business the previous Monday, and though not in robust health his demise caused no little shock to his wide circle of friends and acquaintances.

He was an active member of the Citizens and Ratepayers' Association since its formation, and ever took keen interest in anything for the prosperity of the city.

The remains were removed to St Michael's Parish Church on Sunday evening, the interment being next day after Requiem Mass to Mount St. Lawrence Cemetery.

The funeral was of extremely large dimensions, and included the Mayor and members of the Limerick Corporation, the Limerick County Council, members of the different public bodies, members of the legal profession, the banking profession, medical profession and of the commercial community, with numbers of friends from Dublin, Cork, Galway, Clare and other centres.

The list of mourners included every person of note within a wide area.

The chief mourners were—Mrs J Sexton [widow] Miss E Sexton [sister], Alfred, James, Harry and Cecil [sons] Stella, Mrs Vera Clarke, Mrs Rita Morris, Mrs May Ringrose, Josie and Adelaide [daughters], Mrs Alfred Sexton [daughter-in-law], Messrs Ted Clarke, Tom Ringrose and Tom Morris [sons-in-law], Miss Kitty O'Grady, Miss H Belt, Mrs Lynch, Mrs Frazier, Mr, Mrs and Misses Ringrose, Mr and Mrs Lane, Mr and Mrs H Sexton, Dublin; Messrs Harry Sexton, Tom Sexton, Willie O'Grady [relatives]

The clergy present were—Rev Father Harty, Adm, St Michael's; Rev Dr Cowper, O O, do; Rev Fr Fitzpatrick, O O; Rev Fr. Carroll, O O, do; Rev Fr. Murray, O B S R; Rev Fr Gubbins, S J; Rev Fr. McWilliams, S J; Rev Father Dermott, O F M; Rev Father Hannon, O O, Nenagh.

Rev Father Harty officiated at the graveside.
