FALL FROM A CLIFF.

Irish Doctor and Wife Dead.

Dr Hemphill, a former Irish Rugby international player, and his wife, were killed on Sunday evening by falling from a cliff on the Cornish coast while Dr Hemphill was trying to photograph a bird's nest.

The accident was witnessed by their fifteen years old son, Peter, who made a gallant attempt to save his parents.

The waves were splashing over his father, and the boy tried his utmost to get him away from them. Then he ran across to his unconscious mother, and did what he could for her.

Later, the coastguards arrived, and found that the doctor was dead. Mrs Hemphill was in a critical condition and was taken to the East Cornwall Hospital, Bodmin, where she died early yesterday.

DEATH OF MR. J. CONNERY.

and respected resident of old Thomendgate, Mr James Connery, passed away in the early hours of this morning. after a short illness. The deceased, who had reached the ripe age of 86 years, was a member of the Guild of Strand Fishermen. and followed his craft up to some years ago. Mr Connery was elected a member of the Corporation immediately after the passing of the Local Government Act of 1898 as one of the representatives of the Castle Ward. He was a staunch labour advocate and a supporter of the late Mr John Daly, who for three years was Mayor of the city from 1899. A man of a very kindly disposition, Mr Connery's demise is regretted by a wide circle of friends, who extend sympathy to his family and relatives in their bereavement.
