No Connection with Anglo-Italian Tension.

It was emphasised at Whitehall to-day that the talks two Italian naval experts who arrive in London to-night are to have with Admiralty experts will have no relation to the Anglo-Italian tension.

TO-MORROW'S ROYAL WEDDING.

Lady Alice Scott will arrive at Buckingham Palace from Grosvenor Place for her wedding to the Duke of Gloucester to-morrow in a glass coach. After the ceremony the bride and bridegroom will drive to St. Pancras, if fine, in an open State landau.

DEATH OF MR. J. H. ENRIGHT.

The death occurred in the County Infirmary yesterday morning of Mr John H. Enright, New-street, in his 74th year, after a week's illness. The deceased for many years carried on the business of a Loan and Discount Bank in the city, and was a man of very kindly and charitable disposition. He was a very genial companion, considerate in all his dealings, and helpful in social affairs. Mr Enright was a diamond jubilarian member of the Arch-Confraternity, and one of the oldest members of the Catholic Literary Institute, in which he evinced a deep interest. He was widely read, a good debater, and by his demise another well-known and popular figure passes out. In her sorrow sympathy will be extended to his widow, and also to his nephew, Mr Garry Kelleher.

The Cunard White Star Liner "Queen Mary," which is nearing completion, will make her maiden voyage to New York from Southampton, via Cherbourg, on May 27.

NATIONAL LEAGUE HURLING

Limerick v. Waterford

Limerick, 3—6; Waterford,

At the Ennis Road grounds, on Limerick and Waterford met in round of the National Hurling. The weather was not too favourable the attendance was not of the dimension that had been anticipated. To extent the fifteen fielded by Waterford somewhat in the nature of an experiment, and they put up an excellent side, and they put up an excellent against their more experienced rivals. In the play the score does not do credit to Waterford's performances.

MILL WORKER INJURED

Patrick McEniry, a worker in the Roller Flour Mills, was admitted to Barrington's Hospital yesterday from injuries received in the course of employment. It appears that he came into contact with revolving machinery and when extricated he was found seriously injured. An examination at hospital revealed that his right arm was fractured, and that he also sustained other body injuries. His condition is stated to be critical.
