Two Limerick Deaths

Kavanagh—On August 12th, at Kilkee, Clare, while on holidays, Eileen (nee Clancy), wife of Mr George Kavanagh, of 3 Adelaide Terrace, Upper Henry street, Limerick, to the inexpressible grief of her husband and young children.

The remains were removed from Kilkee to Limerick on Monday, and were met by a large concourse of mourners some distance outside the city. The greatest sympathy is felt with her husband, a popular citizen, by a large circle of friends in this city and adjoining counties. The remains lay overnight in St Michael's Parish Church, and the funeral, after Solemn Requiem Mass, took place to Mount St Lawrence Cemetery, accompanied by a huge concourse.

Kelly—Aug. 12, Joan, beloved wife of Paddy Kelly (Messrs O'Callaghan's Tannery)—R.I.P.

Deceased was an accomplished and amiable young lady, and her demise at so young an age has occasioned deep grief to a wide circle of friends outside the family circle. Paddy Kelly, as he is familiarly known in the city and adjoining counties, is a well-known popular traveller for the firm of Messrs O'Callaghan, tanners, whose confidence he enjoys to the fullest extent.

The funeral took place on Tuesday from St Michael's Parish Church to Mount Saint Lawrence Cemetery. A large concourse marched in the funeral procession.

We join in the expressions of condolence felt in both instances at the sad bereavements which have befallen two respected families.
