DRUM'S NARROW VICTORY

Test of Stamina

Drumcondra : 7 goal 7 corners.
Cork : 1 goal 6 corners.

At the Markets Field, Drumcondra had the narrowest possible victory over Cork in the Dublin City Cup tie by seven corner kicks to six, both sides having scored one goal. This was Limerick's first competitive game, and a large crowd was present, who, however, were disappointed at the display. The stars on either team did not display their accustomed finesse, and the game developed into a test of stamina rather than skill two periods of extra time being necessary to decide the issue. O'Keefe, Mahony, and Millar were best for Cork, while Hoey, Kelly and Walsh were prominent for the winners.

From the start Cork attacked, but a nice movement broke down when Drummond shot wide. In a Drum's raid O'Keefe was called upon to save from Walsh and Donnelly in succession before Cork had a short period of attack, in which Ring was conspicuous, but Hoey and Flynn defied all scoring efforts. After thirty minutes the Cork side took the lead when, after a clever movement between Drummond, Cronin, and Byrne, the latter beat Flynn with a fast shot. Up to the interval Drums were on top, but failed to penetrate.

Resuming at a fast pace, Drums pressed, and O'Keefe, in the Cork goal, was applauded for a great save from Scully. The Dubliners resumed the offensive, and Meehan, getting clear away, sent a beautiful cross for Walsh to head the equaliser in capital style.

No further scores having come at the long whistle, extra time was decided upon. In a hectic finish, Donnelly forced the all-important corner for Drumcondra. Teams:—

Drumcondra—Flynn; Hoey, Ewing; Farrell, Kelly, Hutchinson; Walsh, Menton, Donnelly, Scully, Meehan.

Cork—O'Keefe; O'Mahony, Millar; Monaghan, Little, Connolly; O'Connell, Drummond, Byrne, Cronin, and Ring.

HURLING.

AHANE WIN LIMERICK TITLE EASILY.

Ahane, 7-8; Croom, 0-3.

At the Gaelic Grounds on Sunday Ahane (holders) literally snowed under Croom in the final of the 1936 County Hurling Championship. From the beginning Ahane dominated the scene and had things pretty much their own way. In the first half they piled up a register of 4 goals 6 points to a blank sheet. The scorers were Mackey brothers, Paddy Ryan and Givens. In the second moiety Croom rallied somewhat and made some good saves but were no match for the champions. In this period Ahane had 3 goals 2 points against three minors for Croom. Givens had 2 goals, Paddy Ryan 1, Mick Mackey and Close a point each. Griffin, Cregan and Roche pointed for Croom. The champions cleared the decks with 29 points to 3.

In the semi-final of the Junior championship Mungret defeated Cloughaun by 4 goals 6 points to 1 goal 1 point.

NOT FORGOTTEN.

English Abbot Martyr.

On Whit Monday it is expected that a large number of pilgrims will visit the church of Whalley Abbey near Blackburn, to commemorate the 400th anniversary of the martyrdom of Abbot John Paslew, the last Abbot of Whalley Abbey. About 10,000 pilgrims are said to be coming. The Bishop of Salford (Right Rev. Dr. Henshaw) will preside at the Solemn High Mass, which will be said by Abbot Breslin, of Mount St. Bernard's Abbey, Leicestershire, on the site of the old church. Whalley Abbey, once one of the most famed and beautiful of the monasteries, "locus benedictus de Whalley," the blessed place of Whalley, as it is mentioned in the old chronicles, was fit to rank with Fountains, Jervaulx, or any of the great English Abbeys.

After the Pilgrimage of Grace it was occupied by the soldiers of the Earl of Leicester, and its monks were brutally expelled. The Abbot and some of the Manifestation of Widespread Regret.

Amidst wonderful manifestations of regret and sorrow the remains of Mrs. Catherine Daly, relict of Mr. Edward Daly, and mother of Commandant Ned Daly, who was executed in 1916, were interred on Sunday in Mount St. Lawrence Cemetery, Limerick. The cortege was over two miles in length, while thousands of people lined the streets through which the funeral passed. The coffin lay overnight in St. Munchin's Church. It was covered with the national flag, and developed in floral tributes, and a guard of honour of the I.R.A. held watch.

At the conclusion of twelve o'clock Mass the remains were borne to the hearse by eight grandsons—John Daly Clarke, John Daly O'Toole, Thomas J. Clarke, Emmet Clarke, Edward Daly, O'Sullivan, Sean O'Sullivan, and Eamon Dore. The thousands outside stood bare-headed. All classes and creeds joined in paying the last tribute of respect to the mortal remains of a truly patriotic lady. A guard of honour of the Limerick City Batt. I.R.A. marched at either side of the hearse, and Messrs. Tom Barry, Jerome Riordan, Rory Brugha, and Sean Keating represented the I.R.A. headquarters. Immediately behind the chief mourners marched the Mayor (Ald. D. Bourke, T.D.), the City Manager (Mr. T. C. O'Mahony), and the members of the City Council attired in their robes of office. They were accompanied by the members of the Fire Brigade, wearing burnished helmets, then came the general public. The hearse was preceded by Fianna Eireann Boy Scouts and members of the Cumann na mBan organisations.

CHIEF MOURNERS.

The chief mourners were—Misses Madge, Agnes, and Carrie Daly, Mrs. O'Toole, Mrs. Clarke, Mrs. O'Sullivan, and Mrs. Dore (daughters); Edward J. O'Toole, Seamus O'Sullivan, and Eamon Dore (sons-in-law); Misses Kitty and Laura O'Sullivan, Nora and Mairgreed Dore, with the pall-bearers (grandchildren).

THE CLERGY.

The clergy present were—Very Rev. Canon O'Dwyer, P.P., V.F.; Rev. Fr. Mortill, C.C.; Rev. Fr. McCarthy, C.C.; Rev. Fr. Fitzpatrick, Adm., St. Michael's; Rev. Dr. Cowper, C.C.; Very Rev. Fr. The current issue of "The Life-boat" gives a review of life-boat work during 1936. It was the busiest year in the whole 113 years of the Institution's history. Life-boats were launched 468 times to the help of vessels in distress. That is an average of nine launches a week. Never before have there been so many. The Institution gave rewards for the rescue of 491 lives, and life-boats saved from destruction, or helped in various ways, over 350 boats and vessels. The year was remarkable also for the help given to foreign vessels. Life-boats helped 31, belonging to 14 different countries, and rescued 161 lives from them.

DIESEL ENGINES.

Another article deals with Diesel engines for motor life-boats. Up to the present only petrol engines have been used, because they were lighter. Now that the weight of the Diesel has been reduced to little more than the weight of the petrol engine of the same horsepower, the Institution is building a number of its large types of motor life-boat with Diesels. They have the great advantage that the heavy oil used is much less inflammable than petrol, and that they are much more economical of fuel, so that a life-boat with Diesels can travel nearly twice as far as the same life-boat with petrol engines.

FALSE ALARMS.

Two false alarms are recorded. The Plymouth life-boat put out in response to signals of distress, but was recalled, when it was discovered that the "signals" were the lanterns of men searching on the beach for a cow which had gone over the cliff. The North Sunderland life-boat searched for two hours and found no vessel in distress. It was then discovered that what had been taken for red rockets was burning soot from a chimney on fire, which the gale was carrying out to sea.

MR. NORTON AND THE GOVERNMENT.

Speaking at a meeting in support of the candidature of Mr. William O'Brien, Labour nominee for Co. Tipperary, at Clonmel on Sunday night, Mr. William Norton, T.D., referring to the economic war, said that the Labour Party had no apology to make for the stand they had taken. They had been attacked by the ascendancy gang, by newspapers, and others because in face of Britain's efforts to use economic black and tannery against the Irish people, they had stood as James Connolly would have stood on the people's side. During the past five years they had encouraged the nation to resist by every means in its power the attempt by Britain to dictate terms to this country, because they realised that if Britain were allowed to win the economic war—which she was shamelessly waging against the Irish people—then there would be no such thing as economic, political, or national freedom in the country.

DUKE OF WINDSOR.

NO MESSAGE FROM BRITISH GOVERNMENT.

Sir Walford Selby, the British Minister to Austria, who has been paying a brief visit to the Duke of Windsor at Wolfgang, left for Vienna on Sunday afternoon.

A representative of the Duke said:—"The Duke of Windsor knew that Sir Walford, who had been spending a holiday in England, would be passing through Salzburg, and invited him to stay at Haus Appesbach overnight as his private guest." There was no question, he added, of the British Minister carrying any message to the Duke from the British Government, as one report had suggested. All such reports were entirely incorrect.

The Duke's representative added: "No plans have yet been made regarding the departure of the Duke of Windsor from St. Wolfgang. The duration of his stay is indefinite."
