

the most fascinating of the countless colourful figures that paraded through history's romance-filled pages. Darryl Zanuck has brought this many-sided character again into public focus by choosing him as the subject of George Arliss' latest and greatest screen portrait in "Cardinal Richelieu," 20-Century's most lavish production to date, which comes to the Coliseum on Friday.

GRAND CENTRAL.

A fast-moving story of intrigue and romance in modern war-torn China, Paramount's "The General Died at Dawn," co-starring Gary Cooper and Madeleine Carroll, which opens at the Grand Central on Monday next, brings to the screen a thrilling drama, built around the adventures of a soldier of fortune to whom danger is the breath of life. "The General Dies at Dawn" is based on the struggle between modern China and the predatory war-lords who are laying the country waste, and was written by Clifford Odets, the young playwright whose recent works have created a stir among dramatic critics. On the one side is General Yang, an ambitious war-lord intent upon crushing China under his iron heel. On the other is the growing people's movement. Cooper is in the ranks of this movement. Sent to Shanghai with money with which to buy arms, Cooper is lured aboard a train by Miss Carroll, daughter of a crooked international agent. The train is held up and Cooper is captured. The agent is given the money and sent to Shanghai to pick up Cooper's arms consignment. Once there he decides to flee with the money. Cooper escapes from Yang and reaches Shanghai, where he shoots and kills the agent. Yang arrives and takes him prisoner again, together with Miss Carroll. He takes them aboard his junk where he intends to torture them into revealing the hiding place of the money which neither of them know. Before this becomes necessary, however, Yang is fatally wounded. Realising he is about to die, he orders his soldiers to kill Cooper and the girl and then to kill themselves so that he can enter heaven with an entourage fitting his rank. Just as the soldiers are about to fire, Cooper, however, wins a desperate gamble for life by cent. If he is not prepared to accede to the full demand. Conduct like that which disgraced the County Council Chamber last Friday must not be allowed to recur, and the Health Board have it in its power to prevent it. It can be done by excluding the wild and irresponsible spirits until they learn to behave in a proper manner, and show some respect for constituted authority, which is doing its best to hold the balance equitably and fairly between the ratepayers and cottiers.

CHILD KILLED.

A child named Joseph English, aged 4, Gurtakilley, Oola, was struck by a motor car on Wednesday on a road near Oola, sustaining a fractured skull, and died later in hospital.

The car, owned by Michael Tiernan, Victoria Road, Cork, and driven by Wm. Treacy, was travelling towards Limerick.

It is stated that the child was crossing the road to join other children when the collision occurred.

VOTE OF SYMPATHY.

At a meeting of St. Michael's Temperance, held on Wednesday, the 8th inst., a heartfelt vote of sympathy was tendered to the Very Rev. Dr. Cowpar, Vice-President of the Society, on the death of his brother. As a mark of respect the meeting adjourned.

TODD'S SCHOOL OUTFITS for Boys and Girls. They are unsurpassed for durability and value.

the story of an everyday family in an intensely human manner and with characters every person in the audience can recognise. There is hilarious comedy in it, charming romance of both youth and middle age, and moments of dynamic drama that holds the audience in its spell. In it O'Neill has brought to the screen a great drama, and a literal cross-section of middle-class life. Barrymore rises to great dramatic heights in the scene where he fears that his son may forget family influences. Beery's love moments with Aline McMahon add poig-
