

done noble work for the nation.

Mr Seán Milroy, seconding, referred to the record of national service possessed by Mrs Clarke's family. Her father, John Daly, and others of his generation, gave the inspiration that enabled a later generation to bring much nearer to achievement the ideal for which he suffered. That tradition of heroic and selfless activity on the Nation's behalf had been carried on by Mrs Clarke and her family.

FROM PEN TO SPADE.

"Hard Labour for Germans."

In order that members of the Ministries and Departments should learn to appreciate the working man, Dr Goebbels, German Minister for Propaganda, has ordered that officials and leaders of district organisations under his control must spend two months as manual workers.

Fourteen State officials will commence work under this plan as various kinds of artisans. For two months they will have to live on what they manage to earn, and they will not be granted any special privileges.
