

Well-Known Citizen

Death of Mr. Michael Collins

With the deepest regret we announce the death of a highly esteemed and deservedly popular citizen in the person of Mr Michael Collins, who passed away at his residence, Altaira House, Thomoodgate, on Saturday night. The deceased, who was father of Mr P G Collins, solicitor, was in his usual health a week ago, but since contracted influenza, which developed into pneumonia. He was a man of many admirable traits of character and all who knew him held him in the very highest regard. Kindly, charitable and good-hearted to a marked degree, he enjoyed the full confidence and respect of a very wide circle of friends and acquaintances.

The remains were removed to St. Munchin's Church on Sunday night and after Requiem Mass at 11 o'clock on Monday the funeral took place to Mount St. Lawrence Cemetery. On both occasions the attendances were of huge dimensions and of a thoroughly representative character.
