

Dock Workers' Death

A man named James O'Sullivan, Covent street, Limerick, died suddenly in his home on Wednesday evening after returning from work.

The deceased, who was about 60 years of age, worked at the Limerick docks.

As a medical certificate was issued no inquest was held.