Continuing, the defendant said that in Mr. Collins' office her mother stated the terms on which she was prepared to assign the premises, and the deed was there and then prepared by Mr. Collins. The latter then read the deed, and her mother signed it.

Judge McElligott—Can I see the original deed?

Mr. P. G. Collins, solr., who was present in Court, said that the deed had been mislaid for the moment, and could not be produced in time.

Judge—It is very hard for me to decide without the original deed.

Continuing, the defendant stated that the day after the deed was signed she gave her mother £20 on account.

Further evidence having been heard, his lordship said he would reserve his decision until the original deed of assignment was produced. It was hard to ask him to set aside a deed he had never seen.

BREAD FAMINE THREAT

Minister's Warning to Dublin

Dublin is faced with a bread famine over the week-end, unless last minute efforts can avert the bakers' strike, which is timed to commence this week-end. Attempts by the Department of Industry and Commerce to effect an amicable settlement have failed, and the Minister has warned householders to be prepared for the worst, and to make provision for home baking.

A last effort is to be made by the Department to reconcile the difference between the master bakers and the unions.

The statement issued by the Department is in the following terms—"As negotiations between employers and workers in the bakery industry in Dublin have not led to a settlement of the dispute regarding wages and conditions in that industry, the Minister for Industry and Commerce considers it advisable to warn the public that the dispute may lead to a strike which will commence at the end of the present week. If a strike should take place it may be a prolonged one, and members of the public will, no doubt, consider the advisability of taking suitable steps to enable them to provide their own bread supplies by domestic means."

efficient referee, and I wish all the other referees in the county were like him."

QUESTION OF LEGALITY.

The Secretary said that Ahane Club had written to him during the week, stating that they wished to question the legality of the Selection Committee that selected the Limerick junior football team the previous Saturday, and asking him to summon the members of the committee to the meeting for the purpose of having the team re-selected. He (Secretary) had summoned the members of the committee, which consisted of a member of each senior club in the county, in addition to Mr Purtil, Foynes and Sergeant McKenna. At last Saturday's meeting of that body there were three members of Abbeyfeale club present instead of one.

Mr. Purtil said that one of the Abbeyfeale men took no part in the proceedings. The Ahane representatives did not object to the Abbeyfeale men until the team had been selected.

Mr. Givens (Ahane) said that the team was almost selected before he learned that there were three men from Abbeyfeale present.

The meeting decided to allow the Selection Committee meet again for the purpose of re-selecting the team if necessary.

SYMPATHY.

Before the meeting concluded sympathy was extended to Mr. Owen Carney, a member of Thomond F.C., on the death of his father.

DEATH OF MR G. MILLER.

We regret to record the death of Mr. George Miller, which occurred last evening at 97 O'Connell Street, Limerick. Mr. Miller, who had reached an advanced age, had only been ill for a short time. He was for many years caretaker of the L.P.Y.M.A. premises. He was a most kindly and retiring individual, and was held in high esteem and affection by a wide circle of friends. The funeral takes place to-morrow at 11 a.m. to Patrickswell.
