NO HIDDEN IN BALE

German's Fortune

Officials at Harwich found hidden by a refugee from Germany a bale of hops.

The man made no secret of his name as he was on British soil, and successfully claiming his money, on his way to Kenya.

Discovery was made a few days ago when the authorities were called to deal with a consignment of hops from Germany. The consignment was found to be the owner, who disclosed to the authorities that one of the bales contained a fortune.

When the bale was opened, the money was found to be £5,000, was found contained in tubes hidden in the centre of the bale.

It is believed to be one of the many methods by which money is hidden in Germany, in spite of the rigid search taken by the Reich.

MUSHROOMS SCARCE

Germany Blamed for Scanty Supplies

Scarcity of mushrooms has been noted this season in Co. Limerick. The shortage is attributed to the abnormal conditions, which in general are unfavourable to growth, especially of edibles. Absence of heat retarded their early appearance, and it is only in the last few days that any of these delectables have been seen.

There is no abundance, however, and such as were noted in past years are now yielding very scanty supplies. Children and their parents, including many town dwellers, are seen in many country districts to be eating these delectable morsels.

accused merely said: "All right, Mister."

"Have you completed your investigations," asked Mr. Wallington, State Solicitor.

"No," replied the witness. "I wish to apply for a further remand."

The Justice remanded Smith until Monday next at Carlow, and said that while he should be sent to Waterford jail it was more convenient for all concerned that he be returned to Mountjoy.

As Smith was driven away in a police car, a large crowd struggled to get a glimpse of him.

MISS SHEILA MacNAMARA

Funeral Tribute

The remains of Miss Sheila Macnamara, youngest daughter of Mr and Mrs J. Macnamara, Walmount House, Limerick, were interred in Mount St. Laurence Cemetery this morning, following Requiem Mass at St. Munchin's Parish Church.

The deceased, whose death occurred on Tuesday, after a prolonged illness, was a young lady of great charm, and her early demise is regretted by a large circle of friends and acquaintances.

There was a large attendance of the general public at the funeral.

The Requiem Mass was celebrated by Very Rev. Wm. Canon O'Dwyer, P.P., V.F., St. Munchin's.

The other clergy present were—Rev. W. J. Carroll, Adm., St. Michael's; Rev. Dr. Cowper, C.C., do.; Rev. R. O'Sullivan, C.C., do.; Rev. B. McCarthy, C.C., St. Munchin's; Rev. Fr. Ward, S.J.; Rev. Fr. Gormac, O.F.M.

The chief mourners were—Mr J. Macnamara (father), Mrs Macnamara (mother), Misses Kitty, Maureen, Evelyn and Elsie Macnamara (sisters); Messrs John and Joseph Macnamara (brothers); Mrs. McMahan, Mrs McAuley (aunts); Mr J. McAuley (uncle-in-law), Mrs. Doyle, Mr P. McMahan, Messrs Fred, William, John and Joseph Stockill (cousins).

A number of beautiful wreaths were sent by sympathisers, and also a large number of Mass Cards.

REMINISCENCES.

Travelling via Tarbert recollections of another patron of the late Rev. Father Foley, P.P. who missed a Cup fixture at Carlow to the time of his death. He was a greyhound, the dead memory is enshrined in a poem "Clounanna," written in the memory of the Cup by Mr Stephen Laskenry. As far as could be seen building fever has not touched Ballylongford, which could be replaced by some of the shacks. Ballylongford, the one of the 1916 leaders, Tom who fought in the General and fell in action, is very well situated on the Shannon, has a church, well kept grounds, and prosperous shops.

LIGHT IN THE DARKNESS

The lighting of Rathkeale appears not to be satisfactory. The report of the proceeding meeting of the County Board. Since last February the town has been without Shannon light. Some of the people have complained of the rate levy. That is most unjust, acts on those who punctually discharge their obligations, like the defaulters. The E.S.B. is not sharp practices in dealings with bodies no more than with defaulters. They have a national duty to perform, and if current is not paid the defaulters must abide the consequences, a cutting off of supply to the town in Cimmerian darkness. A fall is a grave danger to the town from passing motor traffic.

QUALITY OF MERCY.
