

Limerick Families Bereaved

By the death of Mrs Patrick Frawley (nee Fagan), which occurred at her residence, Victoria Terrace, Dublin, on Friday last, two respected Limerick families have been sadly bereaved. The deceased lady, who possessed a charming personality, was but a few brief days ill, and to add to the poignancy of the event, she leaves behind her three young children. Both deceased and her husband were immensely popular figures in their native city, prior to their taking up residence in Dublin some few years back. The remains were brought to Limerick on Saturday evening from Dublin and rested in St. John's Cathedral overnight. The funeral took place to Mount St. Lawrence on Sunday evening, and here there was a striking manifestation of sympathy and respect. Rev Fr. Kelly, Adm, St John's and the other clergy attached to the Cathedral were present, and many beautiful floral tributes were laid on the grave as well as numerous Mass cards.

The chief mourners were:—Patrick Frawley (husband), Bernard (son), William Fagan (brother), John Frawley, senior (father-in-law), John Frawley, junior (brother-in-law), etc.
