

City Man's Death

Fall From Scaffold

Evidence at Inquest

An inquest was opened to-day touching the circumstances of the death of Thomas Ward (40), married), described as a small building contractor, who died on Sunday.

Ward, who resided at 13 Farransbone, Thetmondgate, while engaged in the building of a two-storey house at Belfield, on the Ennis Road, on the 5th April last, fell from the scaffolding.

He received serious injuries which necessitated his removal to Barrington's Hospital, where he was detained until his death.
