IER RUMOUR.

rumours microbe has attacked s of Limerick Fishery Board, but, not with the same virulence as f our city tale bearers. At Wed- s Board meeting a Mr F Callinan, gnomon sounds and has a Clare stated that it was rumoured that partment of Agriculture and Fish- onemplated increasing the drift net to £5. He heard the good news ome ore who had it from some- lse. That is how the links are put chain prayer. Mr Callinan would firmer ground if he could state he is information from any good or, better still, wait official an- ment before taking action.

other trades for which classes are pro- vided: Tailoring, Shoe and Slipper making and Confectionary. In the Commercial section, attendance could scarcely be better nor the observations of the In- spector more encouraging. Here again one visualises the quality of the instruction and how it has reacted on the pupils in fitting them for positions which would otherwise be beyond their reach. At any rate, a certificate of proficiency in Busi- ness Methods, Shorthand and Type- writing is no encumbrance, on the contrary it ensures the holder a better chance of securing a position than if he were without it. One could not more accurately describe such a diploma than a passport to an appointment. The School of Art reflects the provision made for students with an aptitude for study in Painting, Drawing, and Modelling; Concluding, the report pays tribute to the Chief Executive Officer, Mr P. V. Tymey, and staff. We would like to offer congratulations to all who contribu- ted to the success of the school in the period surveyed by the report which was received with gratification by the Chair- man of the Committee, Mr. P. J. Donnellan. His reference was highly complimentary but no more than was abundantly deserved.
