

Death of County Limerick Patriot

Croke Park Shooting Recalled

Mr Daniel Hogan, an unceasing worker for Irish freedom, has died at Tankards-town, Kilmallock.

He joined the Irish Volunteers when a young man and later served with distinction in the Limerick and Dublin Brigades of the I.R.A. Up to the time of his death he was actively interested in the independence movement.

All his brothers fought during the struggle from 1917 to 1923, Tom being fatally wounded at Croke Park.
