

FENDANT'S VERSION.

endant said he was 14 years old on the said date he was in a large lorry for the Glen ofreamery. He was driving from o this bend at about 20 miles an hour. He saw school children and a car slowly. When he first saw the car he was about 15 yards from it. He was positively on his left side of the road and he blew the horn. He could not be certain if he blew the horn. He kept well in on his left on the grass margin and could not be mistaken about it. He did not see a very dangerous corner. He was at the corner when he saw the car in the centre of the road and he was two or three or four feet from the left side of the road. He did not see the car had no more room to go in, and the driver's car did swerve.

A GOOD RECORD.

Mr. Power said: "If they did not swerve the accident would have happened? Nothing else happened. They were in the middle of the road.

Mr. Power said: "I am entitled to half the road. I am insisting on it on account of my superior weight?—No.

Mr. Power said: "I was wrong with Mr. and Miss Power if they went to the barrack?—I am not sure.

Mr. Power said: "The charge was keeping as near as practicable to the left edge of the road and he had no right at all that the defendant did not swerve.

Mr. Power had long experience as a driver and would be the last man in the world to get a man into a lorry unless he had great cause.

Mr. Power said the defendant's record was very good and there were no other charges in the case.

Mr. Power said his only reason for going to the barrack was that people were a bit mannerly on the road. The Road Regulation Act was applied. Mr. Power had business before the Court and it was in the public interest.
