WORKED FOR THE I.R.A. LIMERICK

DEATH OF EAST LIMERICK DOCTOR

Very sincere regret is felt in Kilfinane and surrounding districts at the death of Dr. Maurice Fitzgerald, which sad event took place at his residence, Ardpatrick, on Friday, 20th inst. Dr. Fitzgerald was a member of a family whose ancestors had served Ireland in every generation. After the famous Knocklong Station raid he attended to Dan Breen, Sean Hogan, S. Robinson and Sean Treacy, R.I.P., at David Clancy's in Cush. During the summer, autumn, and winter of 1920, also the spring and summer of 1921, he travelled across country for miles during curfew hours to attend the wounded and sick of the East Limerick Brigade. On one occasion whilst attending a wounded man, the British military raided the district. The patient had to be dressed and put standing beside a ladder, on which a thatcher was working, until the raid was over. Dr. Fitzgerald remained for hours after beside the patient's bed lest he would suffer from relapse. Amongst his many comrades who attended his funeral was Colonel Liam Hayes, who was wounded at Dromkeen Ambush, and who was a patient of his for many months. His remains were removed to Ardpatrick Church on Saturday evening, 21st inst., and were interred at Abbey, on Sunday, in the presence of a large assemblage of mourners.

Rev. Father Carroll, P.P., Ardpatrick; Rev. Father Carr, P.P., Kilfinane; and Rev. Father Cussen, C.C., do., officiated R.I.P.

A 23-year-old farm labourer, Michael Aherne, of Shanakill, Kilcorney, received fatal injuries when he was kicked by a horse at Kilcorney on Thursday last. He was immediately removed to the South
