DEFINITION OF CLAIM.

Mr. Smyth, manager of the Limerick Limestone Exchange, said he made a claim for benefit made by the plaintiff in November, 1939. The claim ended in October and he said his card was not stamped in respect of two days worked for the defendants. The cards were put on in January, and the value could not be made under Section 8 (4) of the Unemployed Insurance Act. As a result the plaintiff lost £15 benefit to which she would have entitled

PLAINTIFF'S EVIDENCE.

The plaintiff said she worked for the defendant from June, 1939, and 7th July, 1940. When she was leaving she asked for her cards but did not get them. She said she was away for two or three days and when she returned to claim for benefit, it was found that her cards were not stamped for the two dates in question. Mr. Smyth contended that under the Unemployed Insurance Act the plaintiff could only recover her benefit by civil bill. The plaintiff issued a summons and the defendant mounted at once, but could not get the Civil Bill Court. Mr. Smyth said the plaintiff was a harp woman on two nights at which £15 was paid in the small morning. The matter of the cards was completely overruled and would never occur again.

REASON OF OVERSIGHT.

The plaintiff said she thinks there is no answer to the claim and it is rather unfortunate that the defendants have made themselves liable for a big amount, because of an oversight. She has to agree with Mr. Smyth at this point that the plaintiff is not here, but can recover her benefit if a summons is brought. The court is the case.

LOSS TO COURSING

DEATH OF MR. T. MCAULIFFE

By the death of Mr. Thomas McAuliffe, who passed away at his residence, Ballysimon, Limerick, on Saturday morning, the sport of coursing has lost one of its most enthusiastic supporters and devotees. Deceased was one of the founders of the Limerick City Coursing Club, and was its first president, and enjoyed, as he deserved, the fullest confidence and respect of all "lovers of the leash."

The late Mr. McAuliffe was an extensive farmer, and in the pursuit of his occupation he employed the most modern methods to get the maximum return from the land. An authority on pedigree cattle, he kept one of the best dairy herds in the county, and was a large supplier to the local creamery. Mr. McAuliffe was a highly respected figure, straightforward and a man of engaging disposition. He was a Nationalist of the order that has passed away, and took part in the agitation for the establishment of tenant-right.

The news of his death has caused deep and widespread sorrow and in their bereavement his relatives have the sympathy of a very wide circle of friends and acquaintances.

WAS THERE AN ERROR?

RESERVIST IN COURT

At Ballyneety District Sessions on Thursday, 3rd inst., before Acting District Justice O'Sullivan,

Denis Minihan, Boherlode, Ballyneety, was brought before the Court for being absent without leave from the Defence Forces.

In reply to the Justice, Minihan said that he did not receive any call-up notice.

The Justice said that he thought there was an error but he could not find it.

Justice—The defendant's application is wrong and I dismiss it.

OUT OF COURT

AND REFUSES TO ATTEND SCHOOL

A boy who has got out of school refuses to attend school when an application before the District Justice, J. M. Flood, B.L., at Limerick Court on Saturday.

This is a most curious case. J. J. Dundon, solicitor to the defendant, when opposing an application made by the defendant's father for the committal of the boy to an industrial school.

Guard White, Schoolmaster, stated that the boy was of the age of 11 years and had no control over him.

Justice—There is nothing to be done except his refusal to attend school.

Guard—That is so, sir. I tried to induce him to go to school and he refused which he only attended for a half.

Justice—Where is the boy now? He ran away this morning to avoid coming to Court.

The Guard added that he went to the boy's house to bring him to school, but he lay down on the street, and he could not carry him along.

Mr. J. J. Dundon, for the defendant, said he felt bound to oppose the application, simply because he could not believe how an eleven-year-old boy could be completely obstreperous and defy his mother.

The Justice said that the first time since he came to Limerick an application had been made to commit a boy because he refused to attend school. If the young man's case was not to go to an industrial school, he saw no alternative but to commit the boy to an industrial school, unless he could be caught and brought before the Court.
