County went down by a big score the need to be any way disheartened. Leesiders have much experience, which always tells in big moments, and they are buoyed by the expectation of not only Provincial honours but the All-Ireland. However, they have stiff fence over yet. The Banner County (Banner) deserve more appreciation than they are given in the county in Ireland, as notwithstanding their failure to get the higher honours, they always come up smiling and hurlers, a credit in sportsmanlike any area in the land. Besides they work all over their county in codes their organisation is second to none and with such admirable the cause of the Gael we will as in other patriotic movements.

Clonmel—The Border Town.

For the replay in the Munster championship tie on next Sunday our hurlers have to go down to the Waterford town, Clonmel, to repeat their defeat by the Suirsiders. We hear a lot about neutrality nowadays, but certain venues are not very neutral. Shannonsiders. It would be expected the great big Counties of Tipperary, Cork, where there are so many grounds that a fairer centre is chosen to decide this Munster semi-final, especially following the Larney draw. I am thoroughly convinced that the location for a hurling tie should not affect our hurlers in any sense. I have seen them even hurling games on their opponents' native grounds than at home and from our previous experience of Clonmel Gaeldom, we have no fault to find with the responsibility there, but where there is so much at stake the venue, like the officials, should be as neutral as possible. This criticism of mine has no connection with Limerick officialdom. We have representatives on the Munster committee and I expect they were outvoted. We hope that as the railway authorities are given a nice run from Limerick 11.40 on Sunday morning for Clonmel we will have a much larger gate.

LIVELY EXCHANGES IN SECOND HALF.

There were lively exchanges in the second half, which, from every point of view, was the better. Fenton gave heart to the Limerick team by landing a nice shot early on, but the effort was nullified when Harty forced his way through to get a goal for Cork. Next, however, McCarthy took another point for Limerick, and after a disallowed goal by Cork, Harty put the teams on level pegging by smashing through a goal. The match was a thriller. With victory within their grasp Limerick put their best foot forward. They threw their last ounce of strength into a gallant offensive which had its reward when Deere took the lead with a point and McCarthy hooked matters with another.

The final scores were:—
Limerick—2 goals 5 points.
Cork—3 goals.

CORK DEFEAT CLARE.

The senior championship game all but resulted in a procession for Cork, who led in the second half had a big gap in the scores. At the interval the score stood—Cork, 3-4; Clare, 1-2. In the second half Cork had matters very much to their liking, and with a strong superiority in all departments rapped some strengthening scores. The final scores were:—Cork, 7-6; Clare, 3-5.
A crowd of more than 5,000 witnessed the game.
