

DOUBLE DEFEAT

Limerick Footballers

MUNSTER CHAMPIONSHIP GAMES AT GLIN

The team takes the field firmly confident that the selection they are about to meet is superior in all departments and they have no hope of victory, it is not very surprising if they do not they have got into their play. Limerick senior football team lined up at Glin, on Sunday last, to play the first round of the Munster championship. Practically every player of the home side was of the opinion that Limerick "hadn't a chance" of winning the laurels at home, and they were, fortunately, absolutely correct. It was expected, however, that the home side would put up such a gallant fight that such experienced exponents as Kerry and, to say the least of it, the Limerick team gave a really surprising display. Considering that the home side was minus several of their usual players, their display was all the more impressive. They won the score 4 goals 9 points to 2 points, but the fact that Kerry scored such a big score does not necessarily mean that the game was not keenly contested. On the contrary the match practically all the way was well worth watching, but in the second quarter the stamina of the more experienced Kerry men had a telling effect on the home forwards, so to speak, had their best trying to keep the opposing forwards at bay.

At the same venue, Kerry minor team defeated Limerick on the score of 4 goals to 2 goals 6 points, after a sparkling game.

THE PLAY.

In the opening stages of the senior championship game Limerick got away to a lightning start with M. Colbert in possession. A shot to the Kerry net was blocked by J. Keohane. C. Stack got the forwards moving again, but, as expected, Limerick pressed on the attack but found it impossible to penetrate Kerry's defence line. J. Benson from M. Colbert and sent to Cotnam raised the white flag for Limerick. His score came after ten minutes

HOSPITAL ECHOES

(From Our Correspondent).

Late Mrs. O'Mahony.

The death occurred recently at her residence, Knockainey Road, after a long illness, of Mrs. B. O'Mahony at an advanced age. She was the wife of the late Mr. Michael O'Mahony, shoemaker, one of the staunchest supporters and friends in the district of Mr. Thomas Lundon, ex-M.P., and of the Irish Parliamentary Party. She was the mother of Mr. Patrick O'Mahony, agent for the Pearl Assurance Co., and local representative of the Electricity Supply Board.

Noble Traditions.

A member of an old and highly respected family, the deceased lady well upheld the noble traditions and Catholic ideals of generations of Irishwomen. An excellent wife and mother, in her humble but beautiful home in Knockainey Road, she embodied the spirit of happiness and domestic contentment, accepting the trials and vicissitudes of life with the same serene calmness which characterised her whole life. In the pleasant and balmy days before the world knew the disturbing effects of great wars, she had the pleasure and pride of having her four sons contributing their quota to the cultural life of the town, the whole four being members of the Brass and Reed Band, which was much in demand at social and national festivals at the time, and also members of the Dramatic Society, whose long list of successes reached a climax by their production of "Knocknagow" in 1918.

Great Charm of Manner.

A woman of wide sympathies, great charm of manner, and innate hospitality, her house was the rendezvous of the young men of the town for many years, and her sweet and loving nature and gaiety of disposition kept many a caller at her cheery fireside. A deeply-pious woman and a faithful member of the Sacred Heart Confraternity, she had the consolation in her last illness of the ministrations of the Church. Although well over eighty years of age, she had until recent months retained much of the vigour of mind and body of her earlier years, while her deep sincerity and personal charm remained unclouded till the end.
