

Popular Citizen's Death

The news of the death of Mr John Madden, Rossa Avenue, Garryowen, which took place at the Mercy Hospital, Cork, after an operation, was received in Limerick with feelings of deep regret. Deceased, who was in the prime of life, was Superintendent in the Irish Assurance Company, and was a very popular citizen. Unobtrusive to a degree, his gentle and unassuming disposition had attracted to him hosts of friends, which was exemplified on Thursday evening when a vast crowd assembled at the borough boundary and escorted the remains, which had been brought by road from Cork, to St John's Cathedral, where Requiem High Mass for the repose of his soul was celebrated on Friday morning. The funeral to Mount St Lawrence Cemetery on Friday afternoon was again another striking public manifestation of sympathy and respect. To his bereaved widow and highly-respected family, in common with the citizens, we wish to tender our very sincere sympathy.
